The object in writing this book is to pass on to future generations vital genealogical information which will give joy, satisfaction, and spiritual food to truth seekers. Those who are endowed by the Spirit of Elijah should find comfort and joy while pursuing and digesting the contents of these pages. Those who are not blessed by these gifts will be repelled by the same contents. These objectives will be fully met if those in the first group feel compensated. Those in the second group will also be rewarded after they have successfully repented and imbibed more worthy attitudes.

After a quick look at the "Table of Contents" the reader may be confused by the obvious family entanglements. To aid the reader to untangle this enigma, the author has prepared the page on "Family Relationships." From this chart one can see the general frame-work of the clans. The five principal ancestors are clearly marked and physically separated from the eight persons in the second generation. Minerva Sagers and her four marriages are clearly illustrated so that all persons can easily understand how she fits into the family picture.

The number of descendants from these great ancestors is revealing. In the order of quantity, they are:

Amy Sweet	7075
John Sagers	7002
Hezekiah Fisk	3957
Minerva Sagers	3076
Joseph Stout	2900
Alfred Fisk	2484
Mariah Sagers	2484
Ira Fisk	1459
Harrison Sagers	934
Amanda Sagers	508
Ira Clothier	77

After all duplications, the net total is 7605.

The writer wishes to solemnly and emphatically emphasize that he is not responsible for the accuracy of any name or date printed in this book. While herculean efforts were made to obtain the truth, it was impossible to verify all the data submitted. All persons listed among the descendants are believed to be alive in December 1959, unless otherwise indicated. Still-born children are not listed. If listed, the writer did not have the facts. Children adopted into the blood line are not listed. If listed, the author was not cognizant of the deception. If a child was adopted from the blood line, the writer did his best to obtain the necessary facts. In some cases he was unsuccessful.

The author wishes to acknowledge the efficient assistance given by relatives in the preparation of this work. The person who made the greatest contribution was Viola Howard Birch whose photograph appears on page 45. Her diligence and persistence is responsible for the complete record of all descendants of William Riley Howard. She successfully solicited over 116 subscriptions to this genealogy, and 62 family portraits for this volume. Others in the family who gave invaluable service were David A. Richardson, his sister, Naida Dickson, of Upland, California, Madona Schmidt of Portland, Oregon, and Vera Kerr of Folsom, California. Without their cooperation and unselfish diligence this work would have been impaired.

HEZEKIAH FISK

Hezekiah, our top progenitor in our ancestral tree, was the twelfth generation from Symond and Susannah Smyth Fiske who indeed are at the top of the Fisk pedigree tree.

Pierce, in his "Fisk Genealogy" says:

"Lord Symond Fiske, grandson of Daniel, was Lord of the Manor of Stadhaugh, Parish of Laxfield, County of Suffolk, lived in the reigns of Henry IV and VI." After Symond, five more generations of Fiskes remained as Lords of the Manor. Phineas (1610-1673), the sixth generation, decided to emigrate to America (1635). In America, his title of nobility carried no privileges. In Wrentham, Massachusetts, Phineas was just another common citizen.

In Wrentham, four more generations of Fisks came and went. Hezekiah (1704-1776), born in Rehobath, later moved to Scituate, Rhode Island, is the last of the Fisks listed by Pierce. The Fisk Genealogy shows no descendants for Hezekiah. The writer was sure this Hezekiah was our ancestor so he set out to prove it. He began with the known facts. Ira and Alfred, brothers, the sons of Hezekiah (1775-1839), — Mormon converts of 1839, were not included in Pierce's Fisks Genealogy. The problem was to prove the blood relationship between the two Hezekiahs. Ira and Alfred knew who their grand father was — Moses Fisk. Pierce had no record of a Moses Fisk. When the writer was in Rhode Island in 1950, he went to Scituate to investigate the problem. There in the City Clerk's office he found the birth record of Moses Fisk, born in 1733, son of Hezekiah and Hannah Sterry Fisk. This discovery clinched the connection between the two Hezekiahs. This entitles us to claim an unbroken line of descent from Symond Fiske.

Hezekiah (1775-1839), father of 14 children, is the bright star in this genealogy. He is the ancestor of approximately 75 percent of the persons listed in this work. Born August 13, 1775, in Scituate, Rhode Island — two months after the Battle of Bunker Hill. Hezekiah was the son of Moses and Huldah Wilber Fisk who migrated from Scituate to Chautauqua County (western New York), when Hezekiah was a tiny infant. Moses purchased a home in Silver Creek and raised a family of eight children.

Hezekiah married at the age of 20 (1795) to Rhoda Walker (born May 22, 1777, Bristol, Rhode Island, daughter of John and Mary Round Walker. Her pedigree shows 73 ancestors).

Hezekiah and Rhodah were the parents of 14 children. These children will be listed in the order of age. Since Ira and Alfred are treated separately, their names will not appear here.

Rhodah, born May 30, 1796, died July 26, 1839, married about 1816 to Job Knight, no record of any children. Rhodah joined the church April 22, 1833. We find no record of Job Knight coming to Utah.

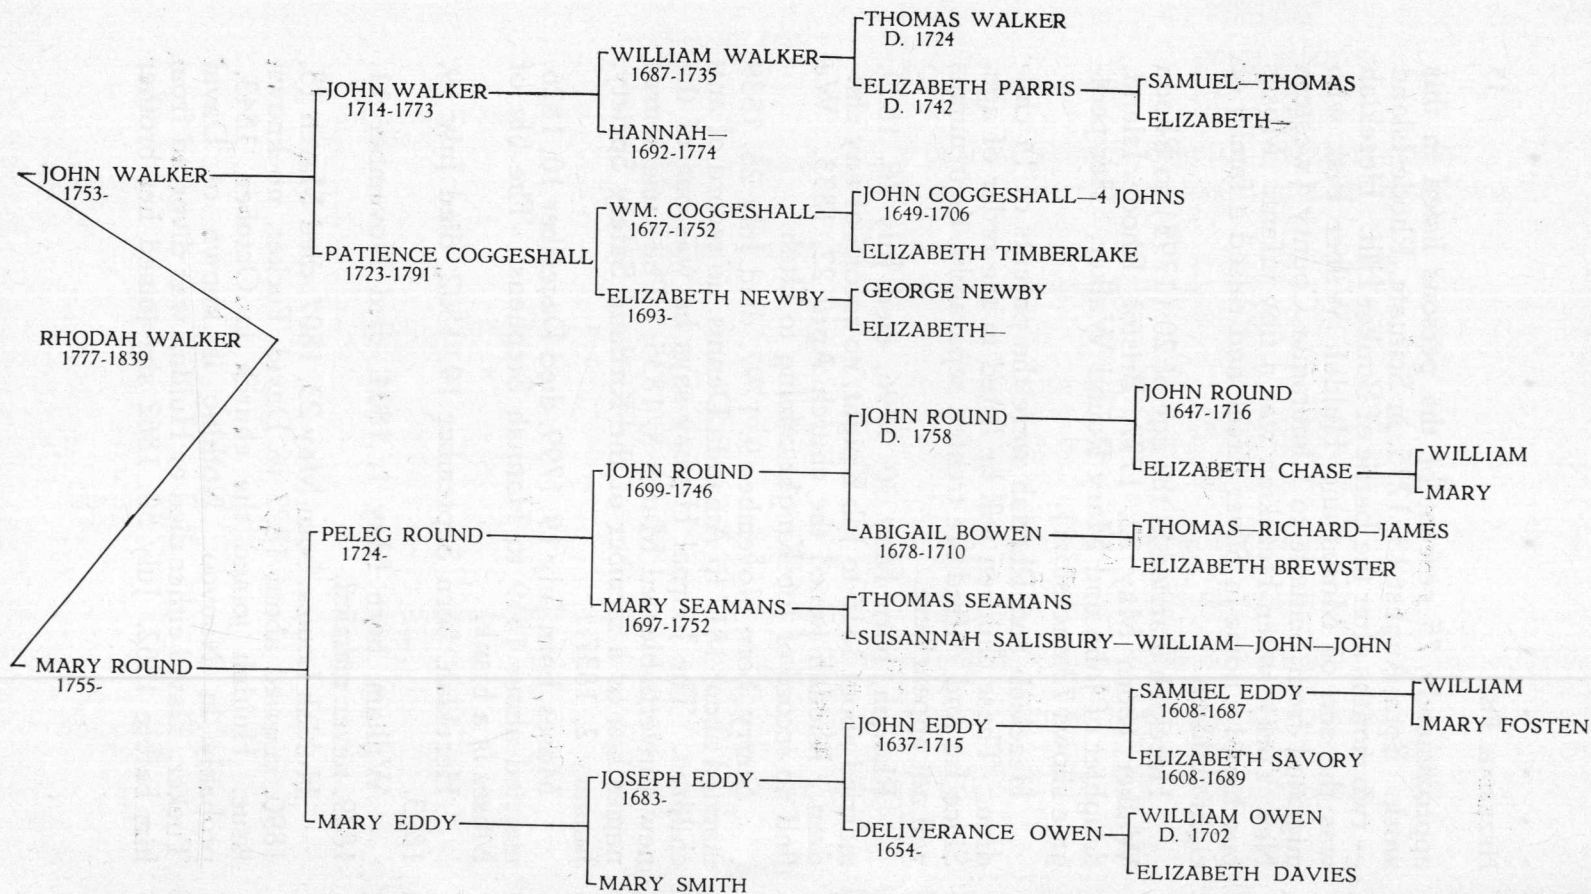

Sterry, born November 9, 1797, died July 26, 1839 married about 1817 to Amanda Dennis, no record of any children. The Journal History says he was one of the new converts blessed March 8, 1835. The same source names him as a member of the Kirtland Safety Society, January 2, 1837.

Moses, born July 19, 1799, died December 10, 1826, married about 1819 to Hannah Stephens. The life of Moses is a blank.

Hezekiah, born September 19, 1802, died July 19, 1803.

William, born May 1, 1804, died November 11, 1839, never married.

Huldah Louisa, born May 23, 1807, died March 15, 1890, married about 1827 to David Tucker, no known issue. Huldah joined the church in October, 1843, probably in Nauvoo. Nothing is known of David Tucker. David either died or Huldah was divorced from him before 1862. July 30, 1862 she joined her brother

Ira and left Florence, Nebraska for the Valley in Captain Isaac A. Canfield's Company — arriving September 16, 1862. Nearly two years later, February 16, 1864, she received her endowments. October 12, 1870, she was sealed to Charles C. Rich. In none of the biographies of Charles C. Rich is she even mentioned. None of the present descendants of Charles know anything about her. Those who should know resentfully refuse to cooperate. Since Charles died in 1883 she may have remarried, then died under another name. This may explain why we cannot verify her death in 1890. She died in Chicago.

Hezekiah W., born April 26, 1809, died October 7, 1839, married about 1829 to Sally Frye, no known issue. He joined the church the day he died. He could have been the Hezekiah Fisk who was a member of Zion's Camp.

Marvin Morris, born October 30, 1810, died in 1884, married about 1830 to Julia, maiden name unknown. No record of any children. His death in 1884 cannot be verified.

Mary, born September 10, 1812, died in 1884, sealed in the Nauvoo Temple to John B. Carpenter, date unknown, no known children. The Journal History for January 2, 1837 lists John B. Carpenter as a member of the Kirtland Safety Society. The Historian's Office has no record of John and Mary Carpenter ever coming to Utah. The place and date of Mary's death cannot be verified.

Russel W., born June 13, 1814, may have died in 1899, vanished into oblivion.

Orry, born February 24, 1817, vanished into oblivion.

Peleg, born October 30, 1818, died November 2, 1819, named for his ancestor, Peleg Round.

Fifteen years after the advent of Peleg (1833), Mormon missionaries came into Chautauqua County and converted the Fisk family. We do not know who those Elders were, but we the Fisk descendants owe them a debt of gratitude for bringing the gospel to our spiritually hungry ancestors. We are the beneficiaries of their courage and fortitude.

Nearly all members of the family were baptized. Soon the spirit of gathering took possession of them. Kirtland became their mecca. In Kirtland, Hezekiah became an active temple builder. The Journal History also affirms that several members joined the Kirtland Safety Society.

The Fisks followed the Saints to Caldwell County, Missouri where they suffered all the privations, persecutions and mob violence endured by the Saints in the general expulsion of 1839. The oppression had an adverse effect on the health of the Fisks. The consequent exposure and disease struck down six members of the family within a period of 109 days. The six survivors were Ira, Huldah, Marvin, Mary, Russel and Orry. Of this number, only two were probably living in Nauvoo, namely Huldah and Mary. Only two ever saw Utah: Ira and Huldah.

New light has just (January 9, 1960) been uncovered relative to the life of Hezekiah Fisk, father of Ira and Alfred Fisk. We have always believed that Hezekiah died November 9, 1839 in Nauvoo, Illinois, when six other members of his family were victims of a contagious disease. Instead, Hezekiah left Nauvoo and moved back to Silver Creek, New York. Andrew W. Young, in his History of Chautauqa County, page 411, says that Hezekiah Fisk was then (1875) living in Silver Creek, New York. To clinch this story, Mr. Young says that Hezekiah had a daughter, Huldah Tucker, living in Salt Lake City at that time (1875). So we now know that Hezekiah lived to be at least 100 years old. Since his granddaughter, Amanda Fisk Stout, had his temple work done in the St. George Temple, April 16, 1879, we conclude that Hezekiah Fisk never joined the Mormon Church during his life time. Amanda probably learned of Hezekiah's death after 1875, so after the Temple was ready (1877), she proceeded to have the work done.

Since the above discovery was made, another discovery has been made which casts doubt on the statement of Andrew W. Young that Hezekiah Fisk was living in Silver Creek in 1875. The "Times and Seasons," Vol. 1, page 32, published in Nauvoo, Illinois, says that Hezekiah Fisk really did die November 9, 1839 at the age of 64 years. Rhoda, his wife, had also died November 6, 1839. Three of his children are also listed in the obituary: Sterry, Hezekiah W., and William. The author has greater confidence in the veracity of the "Times and Seasons" than he does in the writings of Andrew W. Young.

JOHN SAGERS

John Sagers, our mystery progenitor, was born in Albany County, New York. That county, since 1788, has had four counties taken from its territory, so in 1788, when John made his appearance, Albany County covered all the upper Hudson Valley area. It is believed that John was born November 5, 1788, a date we cannot verify (date may be November 3, 1781.) *

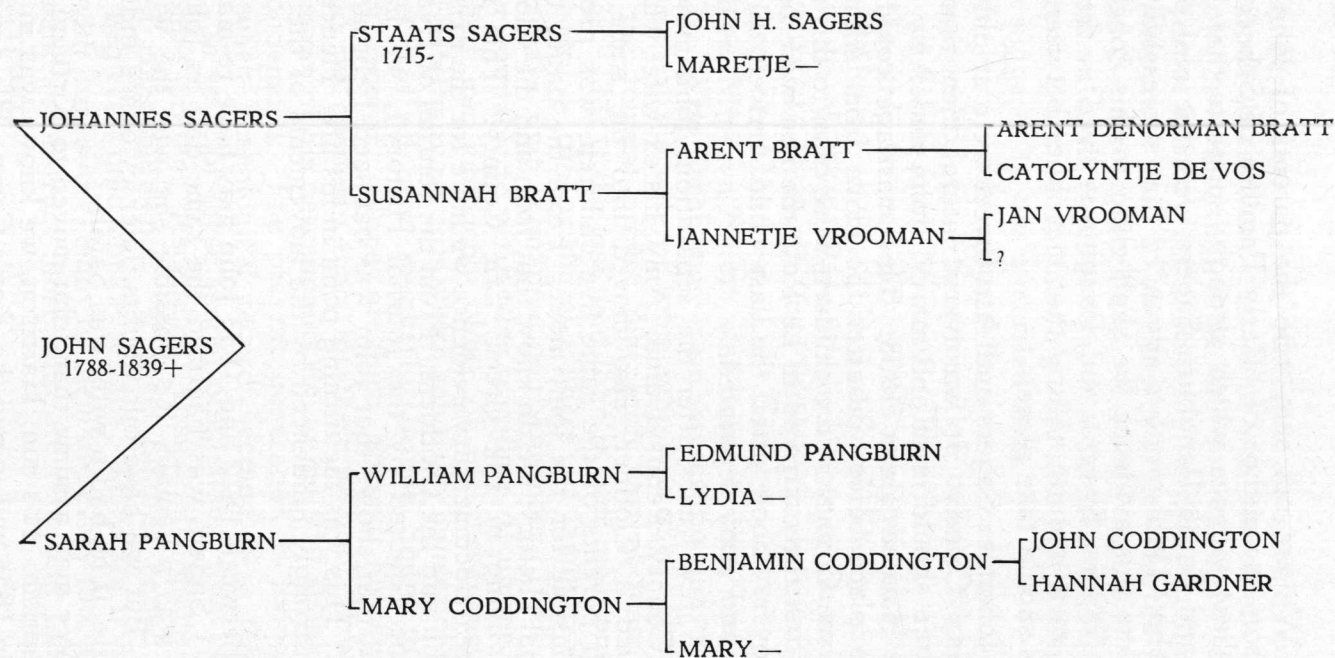

For many years, we his descendants, believed his ancestors came from Rhode Island. To justify our conviction, we had developed a pedigree for John which reached back many generations. This pedigree had one defect, namely, we had given John parents which were not his. It was David A. Richardson who discovered this error. This discovery made it necessary to search for his real parents.

Knowing the "Sagers" name to be German in origin, it was necessary to seek his ancestors in areas where German immigrants were known to have first settled. Since the U. S. Census for 1790 in New York State listed many Segers, Seger, Segar and Seagers our attention was directed to that area.

Walter A. Knittle, author of "Early 18th Century Palatine Emigration," says (page 273) that one Johan Henrig Segers and wife left Europe July 27, 1709 for America and settled in the upper Hudson Valley. This writer claims that thousands of German immigrants sailed up the Hudson River and settled in the Albany County area. These revelations make it easy to believe that the ancestors of John Sagers were a part of that great movement.

The 1790 Census for Rhode Island lists but one Segar. The New York Census lists four Sagers and eight Segars, thus the probability of New York being the origin of our Sagers is greater, percentage wise. The spelling of the name has no significance. Since these immigrants were illiterate, the census taker spelled the name the way he thought it should be.

*Note—New discovery—John may be son of Garret and Catherine Shaver Sager, who was son of Johannes Sager.

We are not sure who the parents of John were. Pierson, the author of "Early Families of Schnectady," supplies evidence which strongly suggests that Johannes and Sarah Pangburn Sagers were the real parents of John. Until proof is advanced that successfully contradicts this evidence we shall cling to this conclusion. The Sagers, Sweets, and Pangburns lived in the same area so it is quite natural that marriages between these clans should take place.

Johannes Sagers and Asa Sweet were neighbors in Albany County. It was very natural then that their children should meet and marry. John and Amy Sweet were married about 1808. This marriage could have taken place before or after the move from Albany to Genesee County. Five children were born to this union. The first three arrived in Le Roy, the rest were born in Hanover. Soon after the last child arrived (1821), John and Amy separated.

A few years after the separation, John moved to Erie County, Pennsylvania. Amy, his ex-wife, who had married a Clothier, also moved into the same area. Being parents of the same five children, was probably responsible for the joint move. From the pages of the Journal History, we do know that John and the Clothiers were living in Elk Creek, Erie County. This is the first real documentary evidence we have for the existence of John and the Clothiers. From the Journal of Evan M. Greene (quoted by the Journal History), we have a record that shows that John was baptized February 19, 1833. This was the turning point in his life. Henceforth he is strongly influenced by the movements of the Mormons.

Between 1822 and 1833 John may have re-married. "Lery" Sagers was baptized the same day as John. If Lery was a female, it's possible she was the wife of John. But we have our doubts, later evidence indicates his wife, if he had a wife, was Sarah.

We may assume that John moved to Kirtland after his baptism. His son, Harrison, we know, was in Kirtland in 1834 and joined the Zion's Camp. His daughter, Mariah Fisk, was also in Kirtland. It should not be too difficult to conclude that John was also there. We do know, however, that John later moved to Missouri. The Journal History for October 4, and December 28, 1838 announces that a "meeting was held in the home of John Sagers at Rockford, Caldwell County. This item has valuable implications. He did live in Caldwell County — truth worth knowing. He also had a home — which suggests he was a married man.

We can safely assume he was one of the victims of Governor Boggs' "Extermination order" which ordered all Saints from Missouri. That he was expelled from the state we can prove from the Journal History. That reliable source lists John and Sarah Sagers as members of the Nashville Branch which was organized August 7, 1839. Nashville was located on the site which later became Montrose, Lee County, Iowa. John's daughter, Minerva Eaton, was living in that same area in 1839. Who Sarah was, is an interesting question. If she was not the wife of John, who was she? This item from the Journal proves that John was at least alive in 1839. This is the last time John is ever mentioned by any record — civil or church. There is a family tradition which says that John died in November, 1843. The author is unable to verify this tradition. If untrue, John vanished into oblivion. None of his three surviving children left any records which solve this mystery. These Sagers had all been taught by Joseph Smith to keep family records. None of them obeyed his counsel. Should we condemn them for their failure? If we do, then many of his descendants living in 1959 should also be condemned. The present generation is living in a day when genealogical record keeping is a religious trust. In spite of these sacred obligations, fifty percent of John's present descendants completely ignore these sacred commandments. If their failures ended here, their neglect would not be serious. They are not satisfied with just failure, many of them use every tool at their command to obstruct those who are repairing this neglected record.

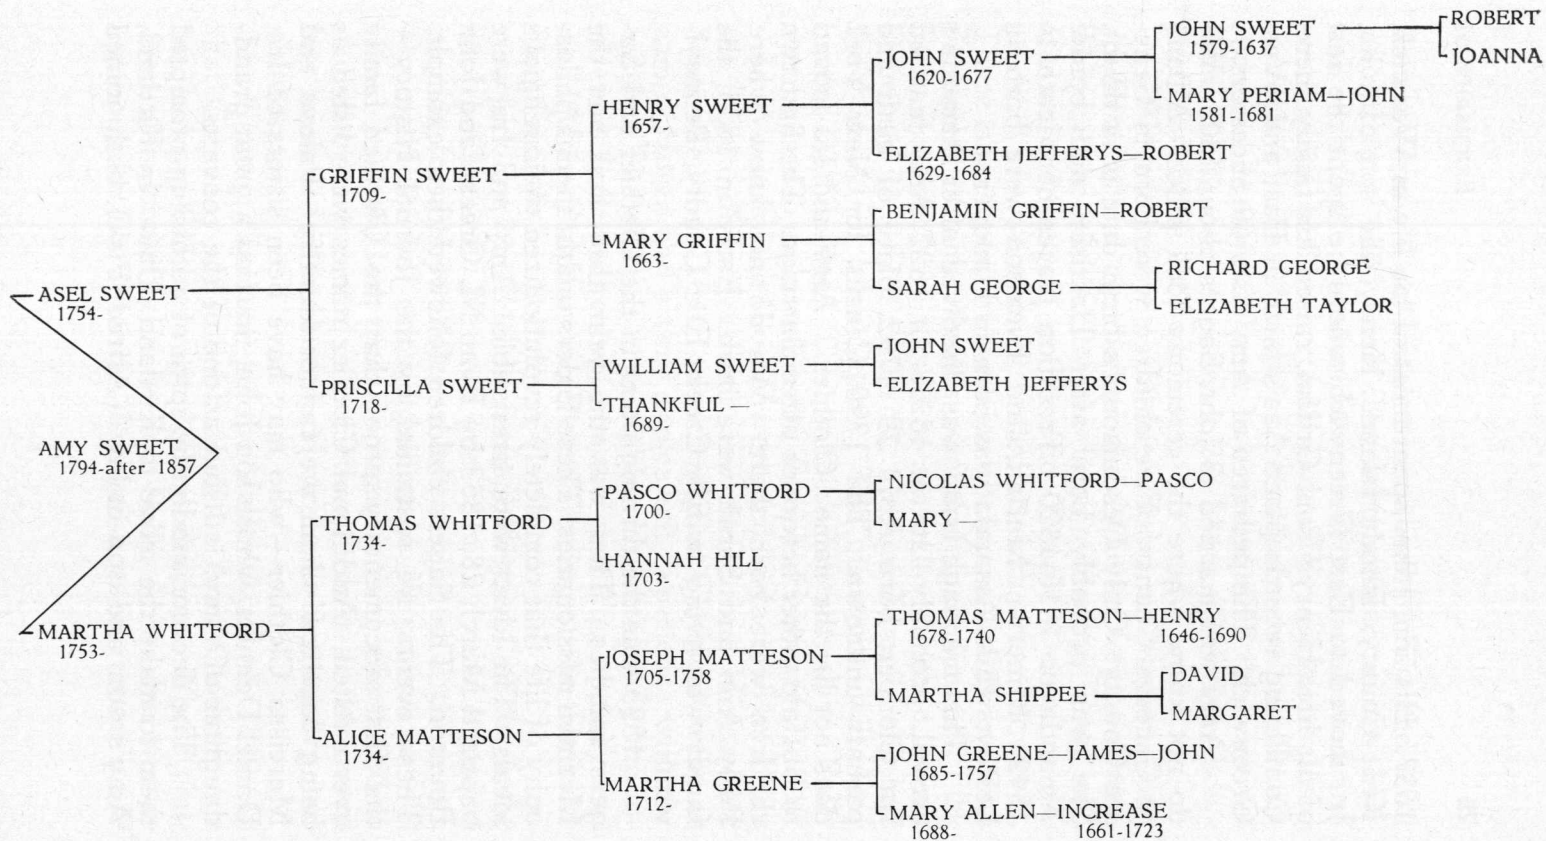

AMY SWEET

Amy Sweet, top ancestor in this genealogical history, is the key progenitor in this story. She is the blood ancestor of 95% of the descendants listed in this genealogy. From her loins 7,075 persons have enjoyed mortality. A multitude of spirits in Heaven shouted for joy when they saw Amy walk down into the waters of baptism, March 28, 1833, and thereby open the gates for their salvation and exaltation. It was her gift of immortality and eternal life to all of us.

Conflicting dates and places for her advent have come to us by oral tradition. We appreciate her contribution to our salvation. She was born August 3, 1792 in Herkimer, New York. We owe her a debt of gratitude for the joy and happiness she has brought into our lives.

The Sweet family originally came from East Greenwich, Rhode Island—since about 1682. Asa or Asel Sweet, father of Amy, was born there in 1754. After his marriage in 1780, he and Martha left West Greenwich and moved to Albany County, New York. The 1790 census for New York lists 73 heads of families who had the name "Sweet." Two of these were Asa Sweet. The Asa Sweet who lived at Stephentown, Albany County, more nearly fits the size and ages of our Asa Sweet so we will claim him for our ancestor. The 1790 Census for Rhode Island shows no head of a family by the name of Asa Sweet. We should be able to safely conclude then that the Asa Sweet who left Rhode Island after 1780 for New York should be our man. The 1790 Census of New York does not list a town by the name Herkimer. Neither does the present map list such a town. We might conclude then that Herkimer is an error, and therefore, Amy could have been born anywhere in Albany County.

Amy's third great grandfather, John Sweet, Sr., of Wales, came to America about 1630, moved to Providence in 1636 with Roger Williams, and died there in 1637. His son, John, spent most of his life in Warwick, Kent County, Rhode Island. Henry, the son of John, Jr., moved to East Greenwich where he spent the rest of his life. Henry's son, Griffin, raised his family there. Conflicting records place Asa's birth in East and West Greenwich. The pedigree of Amy lists 69 ancestors.

Amy was married to John Sagers about 1808. We do not know where the ceremony took place—Albany or Genesee County. Five children were born in Genesee County. Only Desdemonia's birth date is in doubt. She was probably born after Harrison and before Amanda or 1816-1820. Tradition places her death in 1842. Minerva, Mariah, and Harrison were born in LeRoy, while Amanda was born in Hanover.

This marriage bond was dissolved after Amanda's arrival, probably late in 1821. In 1822 Amy married Ira Clothier, born April 29, 1792, place of birth and parents unknown. The 1790 Census for New York does not list the name "Clothier." Amy and Ira moved to Buffalo either before or after marriage. The first two children were born there. We do not know where Polly Ann and Sarah were born. Early in 1833, the family was living in Elk Creek, Erie County, Pennsylvania.

1833 was the turning point in the Clothier and Sagers families. That was the year they first met the Mormon missionaries. These Elders taught them a philosophy of life that completely revolutionized their religious ideals. The ideas were irresistible. Amy and Ira were baptized March 28, 1833 by Evan M. Greene and John Boynton. The Sagers children followed their example. These events are sustained by the Journal History—the first documentary proof that the Clothier family ever existed. Additional Clothier names were listed as being baptized whom we cannot identify—Palova and Marcissa Clothier—who may have been sisters of Ira. Daniel Dennett, whose son John, married a great granddaughter of Amy, is listed as one of the converts.

The decision made, the spirit of gathering prompted them to make the move to Kirtland, Ohio. In Kirtland, Amy's son and son-in-law (Alfred Fisk) both joined Zion's Camp. The Clothiers remained in Kirtland until the spring of 1835 when they accompanied widow Mariah Fisk to the Missouri River where Mariah died and was buried beside her husband. The Clothiers lived through all the Missouri persecutions—eventually arriving in Nauvoo. About two years after their arrival there, Sarah died, December 27, 1841. This date, however, cannot be verified.

We are sure the Clothiers lived in Nauvoo. Son Andrew was a member of the Nauvoo Legion Band. This can be verified by the Legion history. Amy and Ira were endowed in Nauvoo Temple December 31, 1845. They were never sealed to each other, however. There is no record of Amy ever being sealed to any man during her lifetime. Amy's granddaughter, Amanda Fisk Stout decided Amy should be sealed to someone, so, on February 21, 1878, in the St. George Temple, she had Amy sealed to John Sagers. The question—will Amy accept that sealing? During these feverish days, Polly Ann was also endowed in the Temple, February 2, 1846.

We know the Clothiers crossed Iowa in 1846. From the Journal of Hosea Stout and the Journal History for September 4-6, 1846, we know the Clothiers were in camp. Hosea had a very unpleasant experience with the family. The story is unprintable. Unfortunately the incident reflects unfavorably on the character of Amy and son. After this affair there is no mention of the Clothiers for 16 months.

January 20, 1848 the Journal History lists the name of Ira Clothier. He was one of many who signed a petition for a Post Office to be established at the camp. His signature has great significance. It proves he was alive. It is the last time his name is ever mentioned in church or civil records. Cemetery records at the camps has no record of his burial. Henceforth he vanishes into oblivion.

Captain Egan left for the Valley April 18, 1849. In that Company we find "Emma" or Amy Clothier, age 56, Jackson Clothier, age 26 and children. These children were probably N. I. and Polly Ann. Ira is conspicuous for his absence. Is there a good reason Ira is never listed in any of the Companies leaving for the Valley? There are two possibilities: He died after January 20, 1848 or he apostatized and returned to the East. The writer hopes the first possibility is the true one. Amy and family arrived in the Valley August 7, 1849.

To find which Ward Amy joined after her arrival was a tough assignment. A card in the Church files was found which indicated she was rebaptized by one William Hickenlooper, May 20, 1851. This did not reveal what Ward she belonged to. A biography of William Hickenlooper revealed he was the Bishop of the Sixth Ward in 1851. Immediately a search of the Sixth Ward resulted in the discovery that Amy was a member of that Ward. The first mention of her name was in 1854 when she paid tithing. She made a donation of vegetables to the ward, May 11, 1855. The records show that one Allen V. Clothier held "shares" in the Sixth Ward. Who Allen was—is not known. Could it be that Allen V. and N. I. Clothier was the same person? The record shows that Amy was again rebaptized March 13, 1857. The Sixth Ward Relief Society was first organized April 15, 1857. Amy's name is on that roster. This is the last time her name appears on the Sixth Ward records. N. I. Clothier's name is found on the records just once. Polly Ann is never mentioned. Whether Polly married, died or remained single will never be known. She vanished into oblivion. Too bad Amy saw no need to keep records.

At the time Amy moved into the Ward, she and son Jackson, purchased a large corner lot (200 square rods), located on the North-East corner of Fifth West and Fourth South. This land was equally divided between them. It is not known what improvements, if any, were developed on the property. Probably for reasons of health, Amy, at the age of 65, sold her portion of the land, February 14, 1857.

The Salt Lake Temple has a record that shows Amy married John Sweet. Where this marriage took place, the date, and who this John Sweet is — is a mystery. As noted above, in all records, she is always referred to as Amy Clothier until 1857, then she suddenly disappears. Could it be that Amy Clothier changed her name to Mrs. John Sweet? The Sixth Ward records have no record of John and Amy Sweet. The Utah War of 1858 uprooted thousands of Saints thus scattering them all over the territory. Her marriage to John Sweet could have changed her address to a town unknown. An unknown cemetery somewhere in the west holds the secret of her demise. The author has checked the most probable cemeteries: Salt Lake City, Pleasant Grove, Fillmore, Tooele, and North Ogden—towns where her kinsfolk lived. None of these cemeteries solve the problem of her destiny.

Meanwhile, Jackson, who was probably married in 1854, sold his half of the city lot in 1860. Where he lived until 1869, when he and his wife separated, is not known. His marriage to Agnes Helen Duell was productive of four children — one of whom died in infancy. When Agnes left for California after 1869, she took the two younger children with her — all left the church later. The Mountain View Cemetery in Oakland reports that Agnes died September 29, 1912, age 79. Grace and Edwin then vanished into oblivion.

After the separation in 1869, Andrew took son Andrew Jr. to Fillmore, where, in 1875, he married Sarah Young, who gave him one son, Ira Delbert. Delbert remained in Fillmore and raised a family of six children. Meanwhile, Andrew Jr. left Fillmore about the time of his marriage, moved to Minersville, there he too, raised a family of six children.

MINERVA SAGERS

Minerva was born June 5, 1809, LeRoy, Genesee County, New York, the daughter of John and Amy Sweet Sagers, the wife of four men and the mother of six children.

Nothing is known of her youth. At the age of 18 she married (1827) Ira Fisk and became the mother of William Riley, born March 15, 1828, probably in Chautauqa County, N. Y. Minerva and Ira were separated about 1831. It is believed she married Daniel Howard in 1832 in the same area. During the following year (1833), a daughter was born who died soon — name and dates unknown.

After 1831, young William Riley, was technically, fatherless. When his mother married Howard in 1832, he naturally and unconsciously used the name Howard, more as a convenience than of necessity. Daniel Howard never legally adopted the boy. So when Minerva and Daniel were separated in 1834, the Howard name had become too strong a habit to break.

In 1835 Minerva met and married Joseph Eaton, the mystery man whose ancestry is obscure. Some believe he was born January 12, 1805, at Montrose, Lee County, Iowa. There is no evidence to support this claim, however. Census records cannot solve this problem since the first census taken in Iowa was in 1840. There are no probate, wills, or land records in Lee County (1800-1820) which might identify the parents of Joseph. Joseph was another Adam — transplanted from Heaven. The loss of this valuable record greatly impairs the value of this genealogy.

Minerva and Joseph were the parents of three children: Minerva, Joseph and John (details later). We do not know where they were married, but the Journal History for May 1, 1836, says they were baptized by Evan M. Greene at Mentor, Lake County, Ohio (Mentor is about seven miles north of Kirtland). Accepting this Journal quotation as genuine, we find the Eatons at Montrose, 39 days later. In this rural area, young Minerva was born, June 8, 1836. The Cleveland Genealogy (page 225) disputes this claim. The author of that book says Minerva was born in Lorain County, Ohio. The Eaton family disagree — when and where Joseph was born — Montrose or Bridgeport, Indiana. The dates: January 2, 1839, or April 2, 1841. The author is in no position to settle the controversy. Most of the family agree that John was born in Montrose, but disagree on the date — April 2, 1841 or 1842. When the census taker visited the Rose family to take the 1850 census in Utah, he gave Indiana as the birth place for both boys. There were no official or vital records kept in Lee County between 1835 and 1845, so no verifications are possible. We do know Joseph and John were born — to know the exact dates will not keep them out of heaven.

These children were still infants when Joseph Senior died. The correct date of death cannot be determined. Some believe he died at Bridgeport in 1843, others place his death in Nauvoo in 1844. What happened to Minerva and the four children is more important. Minerva was endowed January 28, 1846. This could mean that she had been living in Nauvoo for several years. We can easily believe she joined the exodus to Winterquarters. Late in 1848 or early in 1849 she married Ralph Rose. The Journal History for January 20, 1848 shows that Ralph was indeed in Winter Quarters.

Ralph Rose was a Canadian, born in 1818, son of Andrew and Elizabeth Daniels Rose, and grandson of John. This is all we know of his ancestry. Minerva and Ralph were blessed by the arrival of a daughter, Adelaide, born December 9, 1849 at Council Bluffs. The date and place of birth preclude any possibility of the family starting for Utah that year.

The Journal History for December 31, 1849 notes the arrival (October 28, 1849) of John Sagers Eaton, age 8, in the George A. Smith Company. No more Eaton names are mentioned. The Gee family was a member of that Company. Since the Gees were related to John, we can safely conclude they had charge of the boy.

At no time does the Journal mention the Rose family, William Riley Howard or Joseph and Minerva Eaton. This does not mean they never crossed the plains. There were thousands of emigrants who came to Utah of whom there is no record. We do have proof, however, that William Riley was a member of the James Bennett Company that arrived in the Valley in September, 1849. Tirza Warner, his future wife, testifies in her life story, that Riley was a member of the Bennett Company. The December 31, 1850 issue of the Journal History says the Bennett Company left the Missouri River in May and arrived in the Valley in September. Tirza's testimony determines the time of arrival for Riley. Riley who was 22 in September, 1850, would naturally travel in the same company with his mother and step-father. If Joseph and daughter, Minerva, had not made the trip the previous year with John, then most certainly they arrived with Riley. This supposition applies to Ralph and Minerva also. It is the only rational assumption that can be made.

The Utah Census of 1850 was not taken until after June of 1851. The official census shows Ralph Rose, age 37, a blacksmith, born in Canada. If the census taker was accurate, then Ralph was born in 1813, not 1818. Minerva's age is given as 40, born in New York. This truly identifies Minerva as a live person, not one who might have died at Council Bluffs, in December, 1849. Since Minerva's age was given as 40, we conclude the census taker made his visit after June of 1851. This conclusion is sustained by the ages given for the children. Joseph's age as given is 12. His native state is Indiana, not Iowa. This means he was born in 1839, not 1841 as suggested above. John's age is 8, also born in Indiana. When Minerva was asked by the census taker where these boys were born, surely she would know. Four other Rose children are listed whom we cannot identify. Daughters Adelaide and Minerva, and son William Riley are not listed. Why are they not listed? After a more careful search we find them in Utah County. There Riley is listed as 23 years old, and Minerva, age 15, both confirm the 1851 visit. Just why these youngsters were living in Pleasant Grove apart from their parents is not known. There were good reasons we can be assured. Adelaide is not listed in the 1850 census.

The Census of 1850 is in conflict with a sacred tradition held by the Richards family. These people believe that Minerva died ten days after the birth of Adelaide in Council Bluffs. The author is interested in finding the truth. If proof can be produced that will sustain this claim, the author will be the first to accept it. Meanwhile, the tradition will have a difficult time to explain away the Census.

The true date of Minerva's death is indeed difficult to determine. From the ages given in the census, we can safely conclude the census taker made his visit after June 5, 1851. If this is true, then we can believe that Minerva was alive in June 1851. The writer believes she died before September 4, 1851. This conclusion is based on the following facts: The Journal History for September 4, 1851 lists 27 heads of families in Pleasant Grove. One of those heads was William Riley Howard, 23 and single. Why should he be listed as a head of a family? The reason was: he had three dependents living with him. Sister, Minerva, age 15; brothers: Joseph, age 12, and John, age 9. Now, if mother (Minerva), was alive in September, 1851, is it not believable that she would be in Pleasant Grove (listed) and caring for her children? To ask the question is to answer it. Could she have deserted the children? If she were still alive, she would have been listed in Pleasant Grove with the children. But since she is not listed, the belief is confirmed that she was not alive. It's very possible that all these deductions are wrong. Minerva may have been visiting in North Ogden when the September 4th count was made. She may have been visiting her mother in Salt Lake City. If these assumptions are true then we shall never find the date of her death.

Ralph Rose, who died in 1881, is supposed to be buried in the North Ogden Cemetery. In October 1958, the author visited the cemetery to find a record. He was informed all burial records were destroyed by a fire (about 1893). Since a fire cannot destroy a grave marker, the author made a second trip to the cemetery in April, 1959. This time with the aid of the Sexton, a thorough search was made for a marker which might point to the spot where his body lay. If such a marker could be found, it was hoped evidence of a woman buried beside him might point to Minerva. This prospect was blasted when no grave could be found for Ralph. From the above deductions the author fashioned the hope she might be buried in Pleasant Grove. In that cemetery he received another jolt. Another fire had destroyed all burial records prior to 1885.

Ralph Rose married Sophronia Hammond about 1853 and moved to North Ogden — taking Adelaide with him. There he remained until the end, March 28, 1881. In 1868 Adelaide married Thomas Richards — ten children were born. In 1931, the last of her 50 grandchildren arrived. She died at Twin Groves, Idaho, August 22, 1928.

Among the 27 heads of families listed by the Journal History of September 4, 1851, in Pleasant Grove, was a man named Ephraim Pearson. Ephraim was the father of Elias, who on July 8, 1855, married young Minerva, age 19. Minerva and Elias became the parents of ten children and the grandparents of 44 children. The Pearsons later moved to Scipio, after 1875, they moved to Circleville where they remained until the end.

Joseph Orlando Beckwith Eaton, married in 1863 to Victoreen Elizabeth Walker who mothered 14 children and 65 grandchildren. About 1883 he moved to Vernal, Utah, where he died, July 1, 1900.

John Sagers Eaton married March 30, 1861 to Emily Ann Robbins who mothered 12 children and 71 grandchildren. He died March 25, 1912, at Breen, Colorado.

William Riley Howard married in 1853 to Tirza Warner who gave him 13 children. In 1939 they were the grandparents of 109. In 1862 he moved from Pleasant Grove to Weber County where he spent many years in North Ogden and Hooper. He died at Chester, Idaho, April 6, 1902.

All four of Minerva's marriages were by civil law. She was endowed in the Nauvoo Temple, January 28, 1846. No record of a sealing to a husband can be found while she was still alive. About 28 years after her death, a niece of Minerva — Amanda Melvina Fisk Stout — decided Minerva should be sealed to Joseph Eaton. Accordingly, April 17, 1879, Amanda and Allen Stout went to the St. George Temple, there they served as proxies in the sealing. Many years later, Viola Howard Birch, a descendant of Minerva, had this sealing repeated in the Salt Lake Temple December 6, 1834. Later, May 10, 1954, Viola decided Minerva's sealing to Joseph Eaton was improper. Accordingly, Minerva was sealed to Ira Fisk. William Riley, Adelaide and the three Eaton children were also sealed to Minerva and Ira. These sealings may or may not satisfy Minerva. After her resurrection, Minerva will have the opportunity to choose between Ira and Joseph. Suppose she prefers Ralph Rose!

The biography of Minerva has been very difficult to work out. She left no written records of herself. The process of collecting these items represents a mountain of work. Since she leaves a numerous posterity it became imperative that her biography be written and published for the benefit of future generations. None of her own descendants assumed that responsibility so the assignment fell to the author by default. Few of her descendants really appreciate what this compilation means. Minerva began the ball rolling with six children, by 1939 she had 59 grand and 339 great grandchildren.

1801-1868

Ira Fisk, born February 21, 1801, Coventry, Kent County, Rhode Island, was the fourth child of Hezekiah and Rhodah Walker Fisk. His youth was spent in Chautauqua County, New York.

In 1827 he met and married Minerva Sagers, daughter of John and Amy Sweet Sagers (see page 30). This couple had one child, William Riley, born March 15, 1828.

Difficulties caused this couple to separate, probably in 1831, for in 1832, both Ira and Minerva remarried. Ira married Lucretia Trask, February 16, 1832. Lucretia was born February 9, 1808, the daughter of Lazarus and Ruby Moulton Trask. Ire and Lucretia became the parents of six children. We are only interested in the oldest since she is the only one who came to Utah. Ellen Rosalia, born April 7, 1833, in Forestville, New York, married January 27, 1858, to Martin Daley, issue: three children. The other five children of whose destiny we know nothing, were: Evlin Roselinda, May 25, 1835; Mary Minerva, March 5, 1837; Emily, October 4, 1840; Marcia De Ette, July 21, 1843; and Lucien, March 5, 1846.

One year after the marriage, the Fisks met the Mormon missionaries. Ira was baptized April 22, 1833—unfortunately, Lucretia did not see the need for joining. After the third child arrived (1838) the Fisks moved to Kirtland. They arrived too late, most of the faithful Saints had left for Missouri—only the disloyal groups remained. Why the Fisks did not move to Missouri too is food for thought. Just where they located in Chautauqua County is not known. Lucretia died in 1848. In 1862 the widower and his children were living in Evans, Erie County, Ohio. His youngest child was 16 in 1862, and could have been self-supporting. Ira left the family, we hope, in good hands, and went to Florence, Nebraska, and joined a wagon train headed for Utah. In the Mormon camp he found his sister Huldah who also wanted to go west. Ira and Huldah made arrangements with Captain Isaac A. Canfield to join his Company. The wagon train left Florence July 30 and arrived in Salt Lake September 16, 1862, time, 48 days.

Ira's great mission in Utah was to find his son, William Riley "Fisk," whom he believed came to Utah in 1849 with the Gee family or in 1850 with the Rose family. Ira had no knowledge that Riley went by the name—Howard, he was trying to find William Riley Fisk, not William Riley Howard. He had not seen Riley since 1835—27 years earlier when Riley was only 7 years old. In 1862 Riley was 34, married and had five children. Ira and Riley would not have recognized each other had they met on the street. Arriving in Salt Lake, Ira discovered he had a real problem to solve. No one could tell him where William Riley Fisk lived. The only clue he could have had—Riley may be living with his stepfather, Ralph Rose. So, he sought Ralph. In 1862 Ralph was living in North Ogden. Ira may have gone to North Ogden, but this is only a probability. If so, Ralph could report that Riley was living in Pleasant Grove as late as 1861. But Riley moved from Pleasant Grove to North Ogden between 1861 and 1863. So we do not know where father and son met. But they met we can be assured. Ira could have learned that Riley was going by the name Howard, but Riley had to be convinced that Ira Fisk was his father. Eventually Riley was convinced of his true identity.

Once Riley was convinced, what should he do? Discard the Howard name then take the Fisk name? It's true he had never been legally adopted hence no legal barriers stood in the way. That Riley even considered changing his name is conjecture. At least we know he did not change the name. Today we have a multitude of Howards who wish their names could be Fisk.

What Ira did in North Ogden is not known. We do know that on December 27, 1862, he went to the Endowment House for his endowments. He returned to North Ogden where he remained 6 years. He was spiritually adopted into the William Riley Howard family. His position in the home was beneficial not ornamental. He even taught the children how to darn socks. Swiftly and pleasantly he became a permanent fixture in the family.

As time wore on, the mind of Ira turned to his children left in Evans, Ohio. The youngest in 1868 was 22 and may have been married. Nevertheless, Ira was hungry to see them. At least he wanted to pay them one last visit then return to Utah. Riley, knowing if he went he would never return, did all in his power to persuade him not to go. But Ira insisted on going. Riley hitched his team to the wagon and the pair left for Salt Lake. While passing through Kaysville, Ira suffered a stroke (apoplexy) and died suddenly (December 7, 1868). Riley took the body on to Salt Lake where Huldah helped in the burial proceedings. The record is still found in the City Cemetery. The author found that record in 1958, otherwise, none of his descendants would have ever known when or where he died. For 90 years he had peacefully rested in his grave without any of his people knowing where he lay.

May 10, 1954, a descendant of Ira, Mrs. Viola Howard Birch, had Ira sealed to Minerva Sagers. Minerva had previously (April 17, 1879) been sealed to Joseph Eaton. In the Spirit World, will there be a contest between Ira and Joseph Eaton for the hand of Minerva? (See page 35).

NOTE—New light on the descendants of Ira Fisk has just come to light. Richard Smith Wheeler of Arlington, Virginia claims to be a descendant of Ira Fisk. He is employed by the United States Department of State. Ira and Lucretia Trask, as noted above, had six children. Marcia DeEtte, the fifth child, married, April 21, 1868, to Marion Smith. This couple had at least one child, namely, Orra, born November 11, 1874. Orra married Herbert M. Wheeler and had at least one child, namely, Richard Smith, who was born March 30, 1909.

This Richard M. Wheeler is very interested in Fisk genealogy. He does not belong to the Mormon Church.

ELLEN ROSALIA FISK DALEY

1833-1912

Ellen, born April 7, 1833, Forestville, Chaptagua County, New York, daughter of Ira and Lucretia Trask Fisk, was the only child to come to Utah. The failure of Lucretia to join the church was probably the deciding factor which influenced the family to move back to New York rather than follow the Saints to Missouri. All other members of the Fisk clan did move to Missouri. Ellen writes that she was baptized when ten years of age. This indicates that Ira had more influence over her than did Lucretia. They lived in Kirtland until 1846 for the last child was born there. Kirtland became a den of apostates after the Mormons left in 1839. What Ira was doing among such people is a mystery. We do know he never apostatized. This explains why Ellen never lost the faith. But her record of baptism was lost since she moved away from the Saints after 1846.

January 21, 1858, Ellen met and married Martin Daley. Martin was born July 3, 1836, died August 9, 1907. They were the parents of three children, the two boys died in infancy. Phebe was a dashing young lady of 17 when a Mormon Missionary came to the Daley home in Forestville. This Elder was a son of Ellen's cousin, his name, David Fisk Stout. David spent two weeks preaching to Ellen and other Fisks in the community. When David returned to his missionary district (February 28, 1887), Ellen was ready for a rebaptism.

Convinced that Mormonism was true, Ellen and daughter, Phebe, left (in 1887) for Rockville, Utah. Ellen and Phebe were rebaptized November 2, 1887, by Hosea F. Stout. Three years later, Phebe married David P. Terry and became the mother of 13 children. Ellen died in Rockville, February 22, 1912.

MARIAH SAGERS

Mariah, second child of John and Amy Sweet Sagers, was born January 2, 1810, LeRoy, Genesee County, New York. Nothing is known of her youth. At the age of 21, she met and married Alfred Fisk (1831). Issue: Amanda Melvina, born June 12, 1832, Silver Creek, Chautauqa County, New York. Mariah was the mother of two more children who died soon: John Henry, born June 12, 1833, and Emma Mariah, born June 8, 1834.

Before the arrival of John, the family had moved to Elk Creek, Erie County, Pennsylvania. It was in March, 1833, that two Mormon Elders passed through Elk Creek and converted Mariah and Alfred. This was a turning point in their lives. Henceforth their objective in life was to gather with the Saints. In Kirtland Alfred joined Zion's Camp and marched away never to return. This left Mariah in a precarious dilemma. In 1835 she joined a group of Saints enroute to Missouri. When she reached the banks of the Missouri where her husband was buried, she took sick and died. She was buried beside her husband.

ALFRED FISK 1806-1934

Alfred, born January 8, 1806, Chautauqa County, New York, was the seventh child of Hezekiah and Rhoda Walker Fisk. His youth was spent in his native county.

In 1831 he met and married Mariah Sagers, born January 2, 1810, daughter of John and Amy Sweet Sagers. From this union came three children—two of whom died in infancy. Amanda Melvina, who survived, is the one through whom the progeny of Alfred Fisk is propagated into society.

In 1833 he joined the Mormon Church. This action was followed by the decision to move to Kirtland to be with the Saints.

After a season in Kirtland, Joseph Smith received a revelation to redeem the Saints in Jackson County, Missouri. The Saints there had been expelled from their homes the previous year. Alfred cheerfully offered his services. The rescue army left Kirtland about May 5. Two days later the group was organized as Zion's Camp. With 150 men strong, they crossed the Mississippi River June 4 and arrived in Richmond, June 19. That evening they camped between the two branches of the Fishing River. The mob had concentrated a 300 man reception party to annihilate the Mormons. Providence had other plans. A flood in the river prevented them from carrying out their threats.

June 22, Joseph Smith received another revelation informing him "that the time for the redemption of Zion had not yet come." Accordingly, the following day, the Camp moved to Liberty. Cholera became an epidemic. Sixty-eight men were attacked, and thirteen died from the disease. We do not know which day Alfred died, but Joseph Smith writes in his Journal that he was buried June 29.

Alfred had completed his mission on earth. At the age of 28, his death was untimely. His loss left Mariah and Amanda alone in the world.

AMANDA MELVINA FISK

Amanda was three years old when orphaned. During the next 13 years, Amanda was tossed from pillar to post—till rescued by the man she married. A biography of Amanda is published in the Author's book: "Our Pioneer Ancestors," pp. 69-71.

Her marriage to Allen Joseph Stout, April 30, 1848, was the beginning of a great career which did not end till September 21, 1888.

ALLEN JOSEPH STOUT Ancestry

The key to a man's character is revealed by a study of his ancestors. Using this approach to our diagnosis of Allen Joseph Stout, we shall find that he came from good stock. Allen could well be proud of his ancestry, for he came from men and women of noble birth. Six generations on the maternal side brings his lineage to Ann Blount, the daughter of Thomas Blount who came to America in 1664. Thomas was the son of Sir Walter Blount of Soddington, England. So Allen was only eight generations from England's noble families. From Sir Walter to LeBland, Lord of Guines, Normandy, there are nineteen generations. Nash, in his History of Worcestershire, Vol. 2, page 157, gives a pedigree of the Blounts from Sir Walter Blount to LeBland, Lord of Guines, in Normandy. From history we learn that these Normans came down from Scandinavia and settled Gual, founded Normandy, then in 1066, conquered England.

The origin of the LeBland family was in Italy where the name was Biondi. LeBland and his three sons accompanied William the Conqueror in the historic invasion of England. Robert, one of those sons, is our ancestor. Nash, referred to above, traces the blood line from Robert to Sir Walter Blount, last in this lineage of 19 generations to die in England (1654). Sir Walter married Elizabeth Wylde who bore him 12 children. The history of Worcestershire does not show that Thomas was one of the twelve children. To prove that Thomas, the immigrant, was truly the son of Sir Walter Blount, we must consult other authorities. In the "Visitation of Worcestershire," (1635, pages 12 and 13), a pedigree of the Blounts of Sodington is given. This pedigree only lists eleven children, Thomas is the sixth child in this group. This authority merely shows that Sir Walter had a son by the name of Thomas, but for proof that this Thomas was the one who married Ann Wilson and emigrated to America in 1664, we must consult other authorities. We are indebted to Zella Armstrong, author of "Notable Southern Families," Vol. 1, page 34, for the proof that Thomas Blount, son of Sir Walter, settled in North Carolina in 1664, married and had at least six sons. More light is thrown on this Thomas Blount by Mrs. Watson Winslow in her "History of Perquimans County," page 327: "Thomas," she writes, "third son of Sir Walter Blount, came to America in 1664, and settled in North Carolina in 1673. He married first, Ann Wilson, and second, Mary Scott. They took up their residence on Kendricks Creek in Washington County, North Carolina."

Thomas Blount, born in 1612, had married Ann Wilson about the year 1628, issue ten children. Their daughter Ann was the sixth child, born in 1640. Thomas died in 1706, Ann passed away ten years later. In the will of Thomas Blount, published by Grimes, "North Carolina Wills," page 65, Thomas mentioned his married daughter, Ann Wilson. Who was this Mrs. Ann Wilson? From the North Carolina Register, Vol. 3, page 409, we find that this Ann Wilson was the wife of Robert Wilson. Robert was not related to Ann Wilson, wife of Thomas Blount. This same source informs us that Robert and Ann were the parents of two children: Isaac and Sarah. Isaac married Ann Parker, March 31, 1701, while Sarah, our ancestor, born in 1667, married John Belman, August 19, 1687. For proof of this marriage we refer to Hinshaw in his "Quaker Genealogy," Vol. 1, pages 36-85. John Belman, we believe was born somewhere in North Carolina in 1662, and died in 1706.

John Belman and his wife Sarah, were the parents of eight children (Quaker Genealogy, Vol. 1, page 94), only one of whom, the oldest, Sarah, born June 28, 1688, is of interest to us. She married Ephraim Overman, May 13, 1708, at Symons Creek (Ibid., pp. 111, 157). Ephraim was the son of Jacob and Hannah Overman (German immigrants) born in 1689, at Symons Creek, North Carolina, died in 1732. Ephraim and Sarah were the parents of seven children, the third was Anne, born August 7, 1714, married Daniel Chancey, December 7, 1733.

Hinshaw, in his "Quaker Records," pp. 135, 157, had mistakenly used the name David instead of Daniel. Daniel's father, Edmund, in his will, makes no mention of a David, but does mention Daniel and his wife Anne. We can safely conclude then that Anne Overman married Daniel and not the non-existent David. Daniel was born in 1706, a son of Edmund Jr., and Sarah Keele Chancey. Sarah Keele was the daughter of Thomas and Mary Keele.

Daniel and Anne Chancey were the parents of four children, two of whom are vital in this genealogy. Rachel was born in 1741, Pleasant arrived four years later. Both women became the grandmothers of Allen Joseph Stout. Pleasant married Daniel Smith, February 15, 1776, a crucial year in our history. Daniel Smith was born in 1743, a son of Thomas and Esther Sawyer Smith. Thomas Smith was the son of James Jr., and Susanna Bounds Smith. James Smith Sr., married Ann Harris, daughter of David and Elizabeth Elles Harris. Esther Sawyer, mother of Daniel, was the daughter of Robert and Frances Sawyer. Returning to Pleasant and Daniel Smith, we find they were the parents of seven children, the second, was Anna, born September 8, 1780, the mother of Allen Joseph Stout. At the age of November 3, 1796, Anna married her first cousin, Joseph Stout.

Rachel, the oldest known child of Daniel and Anne Chancey, married Samuel Stout, December 16, 1762, and became the mother of ten children. The fifth child in this group was Joseph, born June 25, 1773, the same who married his first cousin, mentioned above. Before we proceed with this genealogy, it is well that we make a study of Joseph Stout's ancestry which carries us back to his fourth great grandfather, John Stout of Nottingham, England.

No progress has been made on the ancestry of John Stout since 1944, but some light on the problem has been shed. Sir Robert Stout, Chief Justice of New Zealand (1899-1926), claims to know the origin of the Stouts in England. It is his theory that the Stouts were originally Normans who came over with William the Conqueror in 1066, and settled in scattered areas in England and Scotland, but principally in the Shetland Islands. For centuries Fair Isle has been owned and occupied by Stouts. Some of these families were sprinkled in Nottinghamshire and others in mid-England countries. Sir Robert himself, was born in the Shetland Islands, September 28, 1844.

All authorities agree that John Stout, a gentleman of Nottingham, was the father of Richard, the immigrant, who came to America. It is agreed that Richard married the widow, Penelope, who bore him ten children. Both Richard and Penelope had an interesting past.

Richard was born in Nottingham about the year 1602. His father, John, was a country gentleman who insisted that Richard marry within his station. But Richard had found his love in a family whom John considered beneath their station. The inevitable quarrel took place. Richard, in a moment of anger, left his father's home and joined the English Navy. After a seven year's cruise he was discharged at New Amsterdam, a bachelor, forty years of age. In this pioneer town he met the charming Penelope Van Prince, a widow, about twenty-three years old.

This noble woman, whose maiden name is unknown, had passed through death many times in her struggle to reach America. The ship which was bringing Penelope and her husband to America, was wrecked off Sandy Hook, New Jersey. Her husband had been quite sick during the voyage, was seriously injured in the attempt to reach land. The ship's company on reaching the safety of land feared an attack by the Indians, so they decided to hasten on to New Amsterdam. Penelope's husband was in no physical condition to make the trip. True and faithful Penelope refused to leave her husband. They had not tarried long in the woods when a large party of Indians fell upon them and "killed them both (as they thought), and stripped them to their skin; however, Penelope came to, though her skull was fractured, and her left shoulder so hacked she could never use that arm like the other. She was also cut across the abdomen so her bowels appeared—these she kept in with her hand. She continued in this situation for seven days, taking shelter in a hollow tree, and eating the excrescence of it. The seventh day she saw a deer passing with arrows in it. Soon two Indians appeared whom she was glad to see, in hope they would put her out of her misery. One Indian made towards her to knock her on the head, but the other (an elderly man) prevented him. The older man carried her to his wigwam and cured her of her wounds and bruises. After that he took her to New Amsterdam and made a present of her to her countrymen, namely an Indian present, expecting ten times the value in return." (From Morgan Edwards, a History of the Baptists in Jersey). Quoted by Stillwell.

We do not know how Richard and Penelope met, but we do know they did meet and were married about 1644. Penelope lived to be 110 years old. At her death she had 502 descendants. In 1645 Penelope prevailed on Richard to leave New Amsterdam and settle in Gravesend, on Long Island where their first eight children were born. John E. Stillwell, who quotes freely from earlier writers, is the final authority on Stout genealogy during the first three generations in America. In his fourth volume, pp. 295-330, the genealogy of the family is given.

The town of Gravesend was organized in 1645 under the authority of the Dutch General Keift. One of the "thirty-nine patentees" enumerated was Richard Stout (Ibid. p. 299). The family lived in Gravesend about 19 years. Eight children joined the clan before the settlement became "too crowded for Richard's rapidly growing family," so in 1664, he with eleven others patented a large section near Monmouth, very near the scene of the shipwreck. Here they founded the town of Middletown, henceforth the Stout capital in America. Richard eventually owned 1800 acres in this area. His will was proved October 23, 1705.

It was while the family lived in Gravesend that our ancestor, Peter Stout, was born, 1654. He was the sixth child and fourth son in the clan. He was a lad ten years old when Middletown was founded. Six years later he married Mary Bullen, daughter of James and Anne Vauquellin Bullen. Five years later (1675), he was granted sixty acres of land at Middletown where he spent the rest of his life. Stillwell says (p. 330) that Peter was "reputed to have been rich, possessed of an excellent disposition, and much respected." He is reputed to have had a large family who settled in Monmouth County, along the seashore. Quoting Richard's will, Stillwell then lists two children of Peter, namely, Mary and John Stout. If Peter had a large family he had more than two children. We have additional evidence which indicates that Peter had at least five children. The will of James Bullen, Peter's father-in-law, says Mary (Peter's wife) had five children. This will is printed in "New Jersey Wills" Vol. 5. The writer has not been able to verify this fact, but accepts the word of one whose veracity is unquestioned. One of these five children was Samuel Stout, a brother of John, who also accompanied their Uncle Benjamin Stout to Delaware in 1708, when Samuel was about 30 years old. Stillwell says, p. 330, that a "Samuel Stout, with wife, Margaret, bought land on George's Creek in 1720." This proves there was a Samuel Stout living at that time. We shall now prove that he was not the son of John Stout which so many authorities claim he is. William Wade Hinshaw, late of Washington, D. C., one of the greatest Quaker genealogists of our time, and Dr. William Mitchell, an authority on the descendants of Richard Stout, both descendants of Richard, claim that said Samuel was the son of John and the grandson of Peter.

In 1947 the writer made a trip into the Eastern States to investigate and solve this problem. After a thorough search he found that Hinshaw, Dr. Mitchell and Herald F. Stout were all wrong. His conclusions were based on the following facts: Stillwell says, page 330, that this John, son of Peter, who went to Dragon Swamp in 1708, "may be descended from some of the older sons of Richard and Penelope." This statement alone gives little hope for the claim that Samuel was the son of John. A writer in the Publications of the Genealogical Society of Pennsylvania, Vol. 7, pp. 195, 196, says: "This John is doubtless the John Stout of Township of Freehold, County of Monmouth, Providence of East New Jersey, who on May 18, 1708, purchased land on the North side of Dragon Swamp in Red Lion Hundred, Newcastle County, Delaware. This land he sold in 1726 and his name disappears from the county records." The writer then describes the family of John Stout. His wife's name was Anna, not Sarah as Hinshaw says. He and Anna were members of the old Holy Trinity Swedes Church at Wilmington, Delaware. From the records of this church, pp. 240, 251, and 271, the names of John's children are given: Joseph, born 1716; John, born 1718; and Cornelius, born 1721. It is important to note that he did not have a son named Samuel. Since these were all the children John had, the document repudiates the tradition that John had a son named Samuel.

Hinshaw, in giving his own ancestry published in the "Compendium of American Genealogy," Vol. 7, p. 216, clings to the tradition that John, the son of Peter, was the father of Samuel. Dr. Mitchell also claims in his unpublished manuscript ("The Descendants of Richard") that Samuel was the son of John. Assuming that Hinshaw and Mitchell were both right and knowing that Peter (the second) was born April 14, 1715, we would have three generations of infant marriages to account for in order to make the record consistent. The reader is left to draw his own conclusions. The writer is forced to the conclusion that Samuel was one of the younger sons of Peter, that he married a lady named Margaret, who bore him a son named Peter, born April 14, 1715.

A recent analysis of this problem has been published: "Stout and Allied Families" by Herald F. Stout, of San Diego, California, (1951). This excellent book does not solve the problem. Page 4 of his genealogy, he shows Peter (1654-1703) with five children: Mary, John, Samuel, Margaret, and Elizabeth. He implies the last three may not have existed. Son Samuel, third in this group, is easily not the man we want. Son John, born in 1675, is the man intended. This John married Sarah and had two sons: Samuel and Peter. Page 10, Herald points out, son Samuel, cannot be the right man. But son Peter is for he was born in 1715, married Margaret Cypher, issue 7 children, and is known as the "Quaker." This Peter is the true Peter for he is the father of our Samuel who married Rachel Chancey. The difficulty with this solution is: Peter, the Quaker, was not the son of John and Sarah. Herald identifies John as the man who purchased land on the north side of Dragon Swamp in 1708. As cited above, the only John Stout who purchased said land in 1708 was a John Stout who had a wife named Anna, and three sons: Joseph, John, and Cornelius. This couple did not have a son named Peter. This completely repudiates the claim that Peter, the Quaker, was the son of John and Sarah.

Peter, the Quaker, was born April 14, 1715, at Newcastle, Delaware, married June 12, 1739, to Margaret Cypher who was born in Germany, June 22, 1716, daughter of Lawrence and Margaret Cypher. Their seven children were born in Pennsylvania. Samuel, the oldest, born April 10, 1740, married December 16, 1762, to Rachel Chancey and became the ancestor of the Utah Stouts. In 1762, Peter and all his descendants moved to Cane Creek, North Carolina, where large bodies of Quakers were then gathering. This Quaker colony did not last more than twenty-five years due to conflict with natives over the slavery issue.

All of Samuel's ten children were born in Cane Creek. Soon after the arrival of David, the youngest, Samuel lost his home in Cane Creek so he moved into Eastern Tennessee, later into Illinois, where it is believed he died about 1831. The fifth child of Samuel and Rachel was none other than Joseph, born June 25, 1773, the father of Allen Joseph Stout. During that six year period the family was in Tennessee, Joseph returned to North Carolina to visit his relatives there. There he met and married his first cousin, Anna Smith, November 3, 1796. His Quaker Friends did not approve of cousins marrying so both were excommunicated. He was also found guilty of taking part in a war, that too, was a serious crime in the eyes of the Quakers.

Soon after this marriage, Joseph returned to Tennessee where five children were added to the clan. In 1805 the family moved into Kentucky where five more joined the group. The tenth was Allen Joseph Stout who first saw mortality December 5, 1815. At Danville, Kentucky, our story begins.

LIFE

Danville, Mercer County, Kentucky, birth place of our great ancestor, was selected by providence, for the earthly advent of our great "Savior on Mount Zion." Danville, settled in 1775, a typical frontier town in 1815, witnessed its greatest historical event by the arrival of Allen Joseph Stout, December 5, 1815. A most auspicious place for a man of destiny to begin mortality.

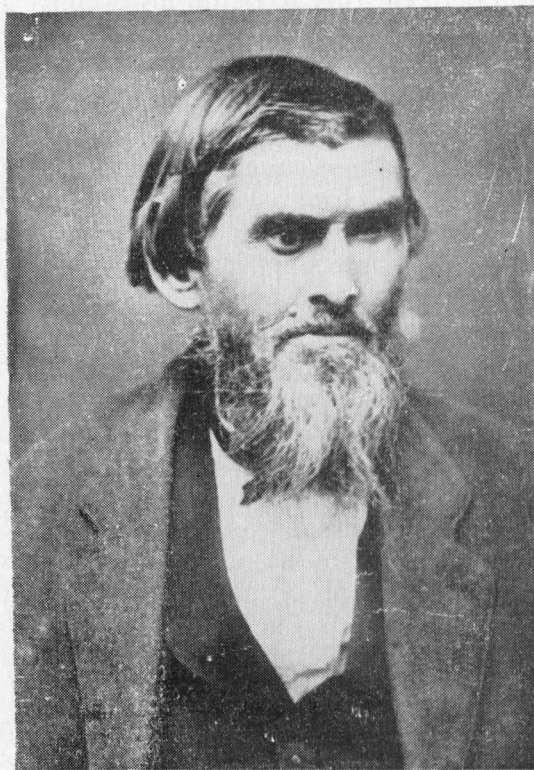

Danville had been the Revolutionary Capital of Virginia, the Kentucky Constitutional Convention was held there, still no date in Danville's history is more important than December 5, 1815. Four years after Allen's arrival, "Center College" was founded. Thirty miles west of Danville is Hogansville, where another great Kentuckian was born. Allen and Abraham Lincoln grew to manhood on the same soil, developed superior characters, one became a national hero, the other was endowed by the spirit of truth.

The census of 1810 shows Danville had a population of 432. The County of Mercer lists Joseph Stout with seven children. When the census was taken the family was probably living at Pleasant Hill, since Hosea was born there in 1810. After 1810, Joseph moved his family to Danville, Cynthia was born there in 1812. The family then, lived in Danville at least three years. After the birth of Allen, Joseph obtained employment at a saw mill near Pleasant Hill. The family moved back to the same area. In this rural community Allen spent the first three and a half years of his life.

In the spring of 1819, the Joseph Stout family was on the move again. Isaac Stout, brother of Joseph, who lived near Wilmington, Clinton County, Ohio, was a tenant farmer in that area. He had written to Joseph suggesting he might find land to lease, too. Joseph accepted this possibility and moved to Wilmington. In 1820, the census of Wilmington had 235 persons. Joseph leased a farm and spent six seasons as a share-cropper. The death of Allen's mother, July 28, 1824, was a turning point in his life. Allen, age 9, was hired out to different neighbors where he was treated like an unwanted tramp.

Late in 1824, Joseph took Allen, Lydia, Anna, and Mary and moved to Louisville, Kentucky, where they spent a year working at odd jobs. Louisville proved unsatisfactory so in the spring of 1825 Joseph took Anna and Allen by boat down the Ohio River to its mouth then overland to Cape Girardeau. A few months later they pushed on to Caledonia, Missouri, where Allen, for the first time, saw his grandparents, Samuel and Rachel Stout. Ephraim Stout, brother of Joseph, had a home in Caledonia. The travelers spent a year in this area before moving to Taswell County, Illinois.

In the spring of 1826 Joseph made his home at Stout's Grove, a community over-populated by Stouts. It was first settled by Ephraim, hence its name. It is difficult to understand Joseph's motives in bringing Anna and Allen there. Providence was directing this move. Anna's presence in that area proved a blessing to the Stout clan. If Anna had remained in Missouri none of the Stouts would have seen Utah or its religion. Joseph's wanderings and irresponsible decisions were being directed from above. With no evident reason or justification, Joseph left Allen and Anna with "friends" in Stout's Grove and returned to Ohio. There he remained four years shirking his responsibility as a parent. The older children left in Kentucky did not need his assistance. Rebecca had died in 1825. Sarah, age 26, was self-sustaining. Samuel, age 24, was not a dependent. Margaret and Mary were married. These facts prove that Joseph was a delinquent parent. Those four years were critical for Allen and Anna. If Joseph had remained in Taswell County and cared for his children like any responsible parent would have done, a great deal of suffering and grief could have been avoided.

Cruel destiny had other plans for the two deserted children. Allen and Anna were kicked around from home to home like all unwanted children. First Allen lived with Nathan Dillian who treated him very well. He worked for Dillian two years. Next he lived with Martin Myers who proved to be a cruel guardian. Says Allen:

"I was a very weakly child. This man used to abuse me by whipping me for things which I could not help."

In September 1828 Allen was released from the clutches of Myers by the effective action of Hosea. Hosea made arrangements for Allen to live with his cousin, Ephraim Stout, Jr. This change of masters was not in Allen's interest. Says Allen:

"Ephraim was the meanest man I ever saw."

Some good came from his stay at Ephraim's. Allen attended Jesse Stout's school for twenty days. When Hosea became aware of Allen's cruel treatment, he forcefully took him away and put him in James Watson's home. Hosea lived with the Watsons at that time. When Ephraim, Sr. saw what Hosea had done he became very angry. Ephraim asked the Court to have a guardian appointed for Allen. His aim was to have Allen removed from Hosea's influence. When Hosea heard of this conspiracy:

"My wrath rose beyond endurance."

Striking with lightning speed, Hosea induced the Court to appoint Watson the guardian for Allen. Says Hosea:

"Ephraim was a cold-tongued snake in the grass. Thus we thwarted Ephraim's plot to take Allen away from us. Henceforth I detested Uncle Ephraim, for he was doing all he could to break us down."

Allen and Hosea continued in the Watson home for 15 months. During that time they attended the Johnson school. In October, 1830, Joseph, the wanderlust, returned from his four years of rambling in Ohio. He brought with him Sarah and Lydia. When he learned of Ephraim's intended court action he was furious. He took Allen away from Watson, and, with the three girls, Anna, Sarah, and Lydia, went to Mackinaw where he purchased a farm. Life on that farm proved too monotonous for the wanderlust Joseph. In June, 1831, he left the farm in the hands of his three daughters and took Allen for a six year fruitless journey into Missouri and Arkansas. This was Joseph's greatest blunder in life. Absolutely no good resulted from those six years of wasted energy. During that period one of the girls made a decision that affected the lives of all the Joseph Stout household. Anna, while living on the farm at Mackinaw, met and married a Mormon. His name, Benjamin Jones. Had she not married him, none of the Stouts would have joined up with the Mormons. Her decision to marry the Mormon has affected the lives of thousands, living and dead, and millions yet not born. Her marriage started a chain of events which will never end. Hosea was first brought into the picture. Hosea met Charles C. Rich who converted him. Hosea was responsible for Allen's conversion in 1837.

From the Journal of Hosea we can determine the approximate date of Anna's marriage. The date should be between May and August 1832. Zion's Camp passed through Taswell County in 1834. Hosea was fully converted by that time but had not had the courage to be baptized. When Joseph and Allen returned from their useless wanderings in May, 1837, they soon became very interested in the Mormon mysteries. Before arriving in Mackinaw, however, Allen had heard bits of scandal about the Mormons. Arriving at the Jones home, he and (father) Joseph plunged into an investigation of Mormonism with both feet and both hands. Allen writes:

"I read the book: Doctrine and Covenants. I went to a number of Sunday prayer meetings, but still the most satisfaction I could get was what Hosea would tell me for he was well acquainted with the gospel. Later, Lyman Wight and Charles C. Rich came from Missouri and held a meeting. I was well pleased and so was father, but to my great astonishment, some were angry, saying they did not teach the scriptures, but I knew better for I was well acquainted with the Bible."

After a few months of study Allen was fully convinced that Mormonism was true. In August (1837) Benjamin and Anna sold their properties and moved to Far West, Missouri. They wanted to be with the Saints. Joseph and Allen too had made progress in the search for truth. They too were ready to gather with the Saints. The four arrived in Far West, August 6, 1837. Allen was sick when he arrived so he applied to George M. Hinkle for a loan—the request was denied. This rebuff discouraged Allen. He decided to return to Southern Missouri and seek employment. But he was completely out of money so he could not go in any direction. Concluding, Allen writes:

"Fortunate for me, my money was gone."

This shows the Lord has a hand in misfortunes. If Allen had started his wanderings this story would never have been told. The Lord soon came to his rescue for Hosea arrived, purchased land which gave Allen employment and shelter. The following months Allen suffered considerably from a chest complaint, fever sores, and other illnesses which interfered with employment. Says Allen:

"I had become satisfied that the gospel was true and wished to embrace it, but held back—not having the courage to be baptized until April 22, 1838."

His sister, Lydia, was baptized the previous day which may have made his decision easier. Joseph never joined but seemed to have been favorably impressed. Little did Allen realize the significance of his act.

Allen Stout was a very humble man. He joined the church at a time when apostasy was popular, membership a stigma, and physical violence a sport. That he had the courage to face up to these evils and accept the clear consequences of his act shows convincingly that he knew Mormonism was true. April 1838, the month when persecution against the church reached its greatest intensity, Allen comes in while Oliver Cowdery and David Whitmer, the pillars in the church, walk out. These men had witnessed angels, received great manifestations, and associated with the Prophet for nine years, they had reached a point in life where they could no longer endure the persecutions church membership demanded. If these men could not pay the price of membership what should we expect of Allen Stout who accepted their testimonies? Should he, a new convert, be able to pay the price of membership when such men as Oliver Cowdery could not?

At the time of Allen's baptism he was suffering from a chronic skin disease. Allen testifies that after Charles C. Rich baptized him:

"I could almost rise and fly. I felt relieved of a great burden."

He was anointed by the Elders and very soon was healed of his skin disease. He bore testimony that it was the power of God that restored his health. He was spiritually reassured and strengthened for the severe tests that lay ahead.

Allen worked for his brother Hosea on the latter's farm near Far West (the summer of 1838). Hosea had spent the last of his savings in the purchase of that land. As the summer faded away the conflict between Mormon and Gentile became more bitter. It became one of the bitterest periods in church history. It was remarkable how new converts like Allen and Hosea could face up to the storm. Violence against the Saints served to sharpen their testimonies for the church. The attack against the Saints at Gallatin ignited the fire. All hell had broken loose against the Mormons. The Devil had enlisted the entire core of clergy to lead the fight against the Saints. The Mormons were brutally driven from DeWitt. Falsehoods were manufactured by Satan's Ministers to excite the population against the Mormons. The Saints were forced to organize in self-defense to repel these unlawful acts. These defensive measures infuriated the mob to a white heat. Allen was a member of one of these groups headed by Reynolds Cohoon. This group was falsely labeled the "Danites" by the notorious apostate, Thomas B. Marsh. These Danites, he charged, had "taken an oath to support the heads of the church in all things, whether right or wrong. . . . Smith's prophecies are superior to the laws of the land—Smith would yet tread down his enemies and walk over their dead bodies." Marsh was excommunicated for making these charges. These wicked falsehoods had a profound effect upon the mind of Allen. They gave him a stronger testimony of the gospel.

The poison spread by Marsh intensified the struggle. Acts of self-defense were construed as treason against the government. The battle of Crooked River was treason if we are to believe Governor Boggs. Allen wanted to be in that battle but he had no horse to ride. For the same reason, Hosea did go. After the battle David W. Patten was brought to the Winchester home mortally wounded. Allen was present and helped give first aid.

The battle of Crooked River was a complete victory for the Mormons. The defeated kidnappers, to justify their crime, spread the lie that they had been attacked without cause and many murdered. This inflamed the entire state of Missouri. Governor Boggs acted true to form and issued his famous "Extermination Order." All Mormons were to be exterminated or driven from the state. The dastardly crimes committed against the Saints which followed these events did not intimidate Allen. Instead, they served to strengthen his testimony.

October 4, 1838, John B. Clark came to Far West with orders to arrest 60 men. These men had been members of the "Danite Band" which the Prophet had repudiated. Sampson Avard, the originator of the organization, had corrupted its original objectives, so had been excommunicated. In revenge, Avard had supplied the mob with the names of these 60 men. Allen and Benjamin Jones were on that list. General Clark was determined to punish these men with unmitigated cruelty. The 60 men were taken to Richmond for trial. The treatment received is best described by Allen:

"We had corn which was ground on a horse mill, so coarse, it was uneatable. Our dishes were dirty shingles to spread the food on. A piece of beef to roast made up our meal. We scraped away the snow and lay down to rest till morning. Our breakfast was the same. Then we were marched off to Richmond. This day I was so afflicted with rheumatism in my hips I could scarcely walk."

In Richmond, after three weeks imprisonment, the mock trial began. The infamous, Avard, charged Allen with being a member of the "Danite Band." Allen was found "guilty" of the "crime," but since there was no law on the case, Allen was turned loose. Thirty-four others, including Benjamin Jones, were also released for lack of evidence. Allen returned to Far West in a serious condition. Due to exposure and neglect, his fever sores had become acute and inflamed. Says he:

"My leg was nearly rotten—so as to render me almost helpless."

In spite of these handicaps, Allen sold Hosea's crops and gave the money to his wife who later joined her husband in Illinois.

During those violent times, Allen met Orson Hyde who had apostatized during the persecution, and was then, early in 1839, fully repenting of his evil conduct. Allen gave him a ride and offered him food but had little sympathy for apostates whose treachery had sent him to prison.

During those first eight months in 1839, Allen made several trips to the West bank of the Mississippi. He assisted several families including Joseph Knight. This mission completed he helped other groups cross the river to Nauvoo. His father Joseph arrived from Ohio bringing Sarah. Since these two had not joined the church they saw no point in casting their lot with the impoverished Saints. Joseph and Sarah went to Washington County, Missouri. After traveling 25 miles Sarah took sick and died. Joseph went on to Caledonia where he too, died (1839).

Joseph's status on the day of Judgment is difficult to resolve. He cannot claim he failed to have an opportunity to accept the truth. His son Allen went to the St. George Temple July 31, 1877, and had his baptism by proxy completed. Later, August 1, 1877, his endowments were serviced. Anna Smith Stout, Joseph's wife, was baptized by proxy, June 12, 1877, and her endowments—June 15, 1877. Later, August 3, 1877, Allen had his parents sealed to each other for time and eternity. Anna did not have an opportunity to accept the truth but Joseph did. Judging Joseph's moral stature by past deeds he did not have the moral courage to accept the truth in the Spirit World.

At the regular fall Conference, October 6, 1839, Allen was ordained an Elder by Alpheus Cutler. Shortly afterwards, Allen made another trip to Caldwell County to see his sister Lydia. Returning to the west bank of the Mississippi he assisted his brother Hosea in the building business until the spring of 1840 when all the Stouts crossed the river to Nauvoo.

April 20, 1840, Allen was set apart by Hyrum Smith for a mission to Arkansas. He left by foot, descending the river to Herculaneum, Missouri, 170 miles, then overland to Caledonia—another 40 miles. There his missionary work began. His Uncle Jacob Stout lived in that area. Obviously he made no impression on Jacob. Allen held a meeting in the schoolhouse where he delivered his first sermon—speaking for forty-five minutes. That was an excellent beginning for a man of his limited training and education. Having done all possible in Caledonia, he moved south into Reynolds County. There he met Mrs. John Bounds, a distant cousin. This woman had an opportunity to accept the gospel, but if she did, Allen does not say. After a season, he entered Arkansas. In White County he preached in the home of Gabriel Baker, a relative. His final destination was Little Rock where he soon arrived.

At Little Rock he faced his greatest opposition. He rented the City Hall and held his first meeting. As he rose to speak the mob began shouting and stomping their feet. Three times Allen appealed to them for order. His efforts antagonized even more. The Devil succeeded in breaking up the meeting so Allen returned to his lodging. Enroute one of the ruffians warned him to get out of town by sunrise or be ridden out on a rail. Allen ignored him. Later, several townsmen expressed their disappointment at the outcome. The reason for Little Rock's antagonism to Mormonism is difficult to appraise. Five years earlier Wilford Woodruff had first introduced the gospel in Arkansas. Satan had done a good job of brainwashing since then.

Discouraged, Allen returned to the Baker home in White County. He spent the remainder of his mission in communities in that area. Late in September he returned to Nauvoo for the October Conference. The distance traveled on that mission was 900 miles.

After six weeks in Nauvoo he was sent on another mission to Arkansas. This time he took the River route to Memphis then across country to White County. He spent seven months in that area using the Baker home as a base of operations. The fruits of his labors was the baptism of at least one person, Lewis Kirkpatrick. July 4, 1841, Allen received word from Hosea reporting the Missouri mobs were attempting to kidnap the Prophet. The safety of Joseph was Allen's first consideration. Allen dashed back to Nauvoo covering the 500 miles in ten days. At Nauvoo, Allen learned, the Prophet had been released on a Habeas Corpus (June 10).

Having completed two missions, Allen sought employment. During the following 15 months he worked at odd jobs. October 20, 1842, he was commissioned a Third Lieutenant in the Nauvoo Legion. He was also active in the Masonic Lodge. It was during this period that he served as a body guard to the Prophet. Late in life he related one of those experiences to Martha Cox who recorded it in her Journal (page 78). Allen was traveling by foot with the Prophet in the open country when they saw a man approaching from a side road. When the man was within a hundred yards, the Prophet turned to Allen and asked him to:

"Wait here while I speak with this man."

Allen waited (in agony), it seemed hours, while Joseph talked to the stranger. Finally, the Prophet returned to where Allen was standing. Allen was deeply disturbed and apologized for being so negligent. Joseph waved his defense aside:

"That man wouldn't hurt me, he was John the Revealer."

During the winter (1842-43), Allen was sick most of the season. In April he obtained employment from Miles Anderson as his teamster. Two months later the Prophet was kidnaped by an angry Missouri mob. This caused great excitement in Nauvoo. Allen with 82 others, left in the "Maid of Iowa," and descended the Mississippi River to the mouth of the Illinois, then up that stream to Peru "seeking diligently for the Prophet." In Peru they were informed that Joseph was safe in Nauvoo. Returning to Nauvoo, Allen was promoted to Captaincy (July 8, 1843), First Company, Nauvoo Legion.

Allen's employment for Mr. Anderson naturally brought him in contact with members of the family. Mr. Anderson's daughter, Elizabeth, became very friendly with Allen. Soon Allen and Elizabeth were ready for marriage. Unfortunately, Miles and Nancy were opposed to the marriage. The inevitable happened. Allen and Elizabeth went to the home of Charles C. Rich and were married, July 17, 1843. Elizabeth was born October 13, 1823, at Murfreesboro, Rutherford County, Tennessee, the daughter of Miles and Nancy Pace Anderson. Miles was born October 30, 1795, in Wilks County, Georgia, died July 23, 1876, in Utah. Nancy Pace was born March 20, 1801, in Clark County, Georgia, died April 20, 1875, in Iron County, Utah. No more is known of the Anderson-Pace ancestry. None of Elizabeth's posterity has the will nor the inclination to solve this genealogical problem. If the pedigree of Elizabeth were known it would be published in this genealogy. Most of her descendants are not Latter-day Saints which explains the extreme difficulty the author experienced in completing this record.

Soon after the marriage, he and Elizabeth left Nauvoo in the "Maid of Iowa," sailed up the river to Black River, Wisconsin, to work for the church. The purpose of the expedition was to secure lumber for the Nauvoo House and Temple. Lyman Wight and George Miller were in charge of this expedition. The journey upstream lasted five days. At the logging camp, Allen was assigned to building houses for the employees. The assignment lasted seven months. In March Allen and Elizabeth returned to Nauvoo. In Nauvoo Allen found employment as a carpenter in the construction of the Seventies Hall. May 1, 1844, their first child Charles Heber Stout) arrived. It is believed that carpentry was Allen's principal occupation during the rest of the Nauvoo period. Other events were soon to over-shadow his work.

Mob violence soon placed Nauvoo in a state of panic. The Devil and all his agents were determined to capture and kill the Prophet. Captain Allen Stout and his fellow Legionnaires were equally determined to protect his life and person. This necessitated taking up and remaining under arms day and night for many weeks. June 16, 1844, Mayor Joseph Smith put Nauvoo under martial law. The Nauvoo Legion was given the responsibility of preventing all persons from entering or leaving Nauvoo without orders. This put Allen and associates on 24-hour duty. A week later, June 23, Joseph returned from Iowa and surrendered for trial. Joseph and 17 friends left for Carthage to submit to arrest. They met Captain Dunn with orders from Governor Ford to have all state arms in possession of the Legion surrendered. Joseph and his friends returned to Nauvoo with Captain Dunn and gave the order personally to the Legion for the surrender, otherwise, says Allen, we would have refused. Allen was terribly disturbed by the martyrdom, says he:

"Their bodies were brought to Nauvoo where we saw their beloved forms reposing in the arms of death. The sight gave me feelings I am not able to describe. I there and then resolved to avenge their blood. When I see one of the men who persuaded them to surrender I feel like cutting their throats out."

If Allen's sentiments were representative of the feelings generally held in Nauvoo, then we know the authorities had a difficult task holding the people's passions in check.

Shortly after this tragedy, Allen joined the Nauvoo Police force. He remained in that position until January 21, 1845, when the Illinois State Legislature repealed the Nauvoo City Charter. This act automatically disorganized the Police Department. Prior to the date given above, the wage of a City Policeman was one dollar per day in "city script."

Meanwhile, December 22, 1844, Allen was ordained a Seventy and admitted to membership in the 11th Quorum. Later, February 9, 1845, he was ordained a President of the 19th Quorum.

Those were busy times for Allen. He worked as a carpenter during the forenoon, attended the military school in the afternoon, lectured on Masonry in the evening, and stood guard after midnight.

After the disorganization of the Police, Brigham Young frankly informed the ex-policemen the city could no longer pay their salaries. He appealed to them to continue, promising if they would, the Lord would provide for their support. Many of the men took no stock in his promise, and quit. Allen had faith in the new Prophet's word and continued on. Soon he was offered a part time job that paid $1.50 for three hours work. Allen found it did pay to heed counsel.

In June, 1845, his police duties were changed. Brigham Young asked Allen to be his personal bodyguard. Later he served in the same capacity for Heber C. Kimball. Allen and family moved into part of Heber's home. The life of these leaders had been threatened. Allen's second child was born in Heber's home. Allen Joseph, Jr., was born December 3, 1845, and was destined to be the father of 14 children. December 20, 1845, Allen and Elizabeth were endowed in the temple. Twenty-seven days later (January 16) they were sealed for time and eternity by Heber C. Kimball.

It was during those winter months the Saints were making strenuous preparations for the journey west. Says Allen:

"We could not remain in Nauvoo any longer without fighting all the time."

February 4, 1846, the first group of Saints crossed the river. Allen and the Anderson family crossed six days later. Allen did not have a team nor a wagon. The Andersons permitted him to ride in their wagon provided he take bedding and clothing only. It was necessary to sell or give away his furniture. Exposure to the raw, wet weather greatly weakened Allen's resistance—causing suffering due to rheumatism. To make matters worse, it was Iowa's wettest and coldest spring in a hundred years. Elizabeth struggled hard to protect the infants from the savage storms. After a hectic struggle they arrived at Sugar Creek where they rested a few weeks.

While recuperating at the creek, the whole of "Israel" was organized into groups of tens and hundreds. Hosea was made Captain of all the guards, Allen was appointed a Captain of ten. The pilgrims broke camp March 1, leaving Allen and family behind. He had become afflicted with sore eyes which nearly blinded him. A few days of rest served to correct the defect. Traveling rapidly he caught up with the main body.

Traveling could only be done between rains. The Chariton River proved one of the greatest obstacles to cross. After that stream came three days of rain, mud, and snow. When traveling was impossible, Allen used the time to peddle books which he exchanged for corn and other needed articles. At Mount Pisgah Allen became seriously ill with a fever. In this dangerous condition he received a letter from Brigham Young who wanted to know if he would like to join the Mormon Battalion. He could not respond to that call. After a miraculous recovery the family moved on to Council Bluffs—arriving December 10, 1846. Obviously, his sickness had cost him five months and a lot of vitality.

Life at Council Bluffs was no bed of roses. Homeless, hungry, penniless and destitute—two infants crying for help, Allen could be pitied by beggars. He finally found employment guarding cattle that belonged to others. The Omaha Indians were keenly on the alert to steal any cattle not well guarded. This job probably lasted until planting time in the spring. Lacking equipment and horses, Allen was unable to leave with the first company for the west (1847). Allen did the only thing he could do. He rented some land, planted a crop and continued herding cattle at night. This was his schedule until the early part of 1848.

January 25, 1848, Martha Ann, joined the family. She was destined to be the mother of four children. After birth, complications set in which cost the life of Elizabeth (January 30). This left Allen:

"In a benighted condition, without wife, three little helpless babies, a journey of 1100 miles to perform, not an animal to help me, and what to do I did not know. So I continued to pour out my soul in prayer to God, day and night for Him to open up some way for me to support my little ones and get them to the Valleys of the mountains."

The Lord did hear and answer this man's prayer.

Allen sent his three children to live with his sister Anna who too was having domestic troubles. Anna was unable to do all the work necessary for these children. It became necessary for Allen to hire girls to help her. One of the girls hired was Amanda Melvina Fisk who began working April 8, 1848. She did her work so well that Allen proposed marriage to her. Amanda decided she could not do better so on April 30, 1848, Brigham Young sealed them for time and eternity. This was an answer to Allen's prayer. A mother had been found for the infants. Amanda Melvina Fisk was born June 12, 1832, at Silver Creek, Chautauqua County, New York, the daughter of Alfred and Mariah Sagers Fisk. Amanda has more known ancestors than does any of the principal characters in this genealogy. Her father's biography is printed above (page 222). He died in Zion's Camp in 1834, her mother died a year later in the same place. Amanda is the tenth generation from Thomas Rogers (1587-1621) who was a Mayflower Pilgrim. A biography of Amanda is printed in the author's book: "Our Pioneer Ancestors," pages 68-71.

Soon after this marriage the five Stouts moved to Pigeon Creek, Iowa. This creek empties into the Missouri about five miles north of Council Bluffs. In that rural area, he rented land, planted crops, taught Masonry and guarded cattle at night. This schedule continued until the crops were harvested in October. With his savings he purchased equipment for the journey west. But realizing he would not be prepared to start west in the spring of 1849, he decided to seek additional funds. For this reason the family moved to St. Joseph, Missouri, to find employment. The Journal does not say what kind of work he found, but whatever it was, it lasted until May, 1849.

Meanwhile, Amanda's first child arrived, Lydia Mariah Fisk Stout, born April 16, 1849. She was destined to be the mother of seven children.

Allen was sick most of the summer of 1849. The unemployment cut deep into his savings. His sister, Lydia, who then lived in Camden, Clay County, might have influenced him to move there. In that area he rented land and worked at odd jobs. When the vicious Missouri mobs learned of his identity, he had to flee for his life. Lydia was a Mormon, too, but she remained safely behind. So sudden was Allen's exit, that he was unable to take his family with him. After many hardships and privations, she joined him in Kanesville, Iowa, in the spring of 1850. The trip south had left him financially worse off than he would have been had he remained in Iowa. The set-back did not destroy his determination to fight on.

In Kanesville he began compounding essence and peddling its products to his neighbors. He prospered in this business, so by the spring of 1851 he had saved enough to purchase a wagon, hired three yoke of oxen (from the "Perpetual Emigration Fund") and was ready to leave for the Valley by July 4, 1851.

Meanwhile, March 9, 1851, Amanda's first boy arrived, his name, Alfred Fisk Stout, destined to be the father of 15 children. The Stouts now numbered seven for the trip west. His Journal is very brief for the 90 day trip across the plains. The Elkhorn River was flooded so they traveled 150 miles around to avoid crossing it. At the North Fork of the Sweet River Allen's wagon broke down. This made it necessary to cache part of his personal property. (He returned for it in 1852 but most of it had been stolen). When the Big Sandy was reached the Alfred Corden Company was reorganized. James Lowe replaced Miles Anderson as Captain of Allen's group. Lowe had more consideration for Allen's poor health—he relieved him from night guarding. This is the first hint that hard feelings still existed between Allen and his ex-father-in-law. (Miles had opposed Allen's marriage to Elizabeth in 1843). Amanda was sick during the last half of the journey. Her illness made it necessary for Allen to serve as nurse, cook, baby tender, and teamster. It was relief supreme when the journey ended (October 2) in front of Hosea's home in Salt Lake City. Amanda was so sick she had to be carried into the house.

Allen signed a note to pay the Perpetual Emigration Fund $67.00 for services given, paid five dollars tithing, then plunged into the compounding of essence and peddling its products. He continued in this business until the spring of 1853, when he moved to Centerville. Meanwhile, his oldest son, Charles Heber, died November 19, 1852. Twenty-five days later, a new son was born, Hosea Fisk, December 14, 1852, destined to be the father of 16 children. January 11, 1853, Louisa Taylor Stout, wife of Hosea, who was then in China on a mission, died. Brigham Young then recommended that Allen move into Hosea's home so he could better care for Hosea's three children. This Allen did. Hosea's small home proved too crowded for 8 children and two adults. This may explain why the Taylor family appealed to Brigham for the custody of Hosea's children. After they were gone Allen saw no point in occupying Hosea's home longer so he moved to Centerville. In that rural area he took possession of idle land, built a home, planted a garden, and continued selling essence and manufactured ginger beer. The stream of California immigrants passing through Utah gave Allen an excellent market for his beer. He was thus occupied during the three summer seasons he spent in Centerville. February 3, 1855, Amanda's fourth child arrived, David Fisk, who was destined to be the father of 28 children. (A biography of David Fisk Stout is published in the author's book: "Our Pioneer Ancestors," pp. 103-250.)

In the fall of 1855 Allen left his prosperous business in Centerville and moved to Mill Creek—a rural area about five miles southeast of Salt Lake City. He had been offered work at Hyatt's saw mill which explains the move. He remained at the mill until the spring of 1856. The summer of that year he rented land and raised a crop. The following winter he continued at the Hyatt shingle mill. January 13, 1857, a new arrival came to bless their home, Rebecca Alvira who was destined to be the mother of 12 children. In April, 1857, he rented a farm on Big Cottonwood Creek. There he remained one year, occupation, farming.

In June, 1858, the Utah War forced the Stouts out of Salt Lake County. They joined the general exodus south into Utah County. The President of the United States had declared war on the Mormons. Buchanan had sent an army to crush a rebellion in Utah that did not exist. It was Buchanan's blunder. Ten thousand other Saints were abandoning their homes in Salt Lake County also. One mile south of Pleasant Grove the Stouts halted, fenced a piece of land, built a house, and started to malt beer for sale. This proved to be a profitable business. During the three years in Pleasant Grove he prospered both materially and numerically. The family population was increased to eleven. Allen Joseph Fisk Stout appeared February 14, 1859, who was destined to be the father of 9 children. Amanda Melvina arrived January 15, 1861, and was destined to marry her first cousin and add five children to the clan.

The future for Allen looked very bright in the fall of 1861. His farm was doing well, the brewing business was paying high dividends, and his livestock was increasing rapidly. His material kingdom fell like a house of cards when he cheerfully accepted a call from Brigham Young to settle Dixie. He sold his investments for a song and began the journey south to spend the rest of his days in poverty among the black rocks of Dixie. It seems the Lord was unwilling to let Allen become wealthy for that would have spiritually destroyed him. As long as the family was in poverty they were spiritually well provided for.

Hosea Stout, brother of Allen, was called to Dixie at the same time. The two families made the journey together. They arrived in Harrisburg, November 28, 1861. The site for a home was physically unfavorable. The soil was thin, rocky and sandy. Prospects for irrigation was null. Weeds could not grow unless well cultivated. In spite of these disadvantages Allen attempted to build a home. He spent three winters in this fruitless attempt. During those winters the family lived in tents and covered wagons. Exposure and malnutrition caused much sickness and suffering. A starvation crop was grown the first season which barely kept them alive until the spring of 1863. May 18, 1863, another son was added to the family. John Henry Fisk chose a fine time to make his appearance—the family was starving. John was destined to be the father of 10 children. During that winter Allen had suffered continually from rheumatism. From his sick bed he left a testimony addressed to his children:

“Keep with the church and observe its orders. Obey counsel to the best of your ability. You must attend to the ordinances of the Priesthood for our dead parents, for we have not yet done our work. If we do not live to attend them, we want you to finish our work.”

Allen did attend to most of the ordinances for his known ancestors before the end. Sickness and disease continued to plague the family. While Allen was down with rheumatism, all the children were sick. Amanda, who had a newborn to care for was alone expected to do all the work. It was late in the season before any one in the family could care for the neglected crops. When Allen recovered he took a load of produce to Cedar City which he traded for other necessities. The 1863 crop was a scanty one but it enabled the family to exist until the next spring. The last winter in Harrisburg (1863-64) was the first and only year the children had an opportunity to attend school.

Finally, in March, 1864, Allen came to the conclusion that Harrisburg had no future for him, a conclusion he should have reached two years earlier. There was not enough land to sustain his rapidly growing family. He decided to seek lands where he could expand and have room for his son to develop too. Accordingly, March 20, 1864, the two Allens went to Glendale and located unclaimed land at the forks of the creek, above Glendale. Allen staked out a claim and named the place "Lydia's Canyon" in honor of his daughter. Here the two Allens built a cabin, cleared a piece of land, built a fence around it, and planted a crop—all in 75 days. In June, young Allen was left to care for the new home while Allen Sr. returned to Harrisburg, sold his farm for three cows, packed the rest of his property in the old wagon, and started for Long Valley. Enroute the wagon broke down so he finished the journey on two wheels. The balance of 1864 was a struggle for existence.

Allen does not say how successful that first year's crop was—but judging from his Journal, very little was harvested. The only food the family had was corn and vegetables. The corn was pounded down into meal and made into bread. Corn bread became their principal diet till harvest time in 1865. Clothing was another serious problem. Amanda wore her fingers raw sewing by hand to keep the children from running naked.

During the 1865 season, Allen and the boys increased the acreage to ten. Grain, potatoes, and vegetables were planted—all did very well. This greatly improved the food supply for the future. During that season Allen suffered an eye accident. Walking among the trees a stick pierced his eye ball causing an acute inflammatory condition which finally burst open. The result was blindness in his left eye.

About this time, Amanda added a new son to the family, Orlando Fisk, born July 14, 1865, who lived 367 days. This same year, Allen Jr., age 20, decided to leave home, and go out on his own. Father Allen expressed his deep regrets, his help was desperately needed at the time. Nothing more is known of young Allen until 1872, when he married in Sandy, Utah.

Late in 1865 Allen became very sick. Amanda became alarmed and took him to Glendale believing the end had come. But Allen had marvelous recuperative powers. As always, Allen recovered promptly. His recovery was mighty convenient for the Indians were beginning to make trouble. The people of Glendale built a fort to defend themselves. Allen assisted in this work. When completed Allen moved his family inside the fort. This made it necessary to abandon the home in the canyon and losing large quantities of food stored there.

The Indian troubles were temporarily adjusted so the family moved back to the canyon. This armistice enabled Allen to take a few sheep to St. George to sell (March, 1866). In May hostilities reached a new high. The situation became so dangerous that President Snow of the St. George Stake advised all Saints in Long Valley to move to St. George. The wagonless Allen was seriously handicapped. The Lord came to his rescue by providing a good neighbor, Thomas Gower, who moved the family to Toquerville. Enroute the company narrowly escaped an attack by the Indians. Another friend moved the Stouts to Harrisburg. By this time, says Allen, the family was financially washed up. Their only earthly possessions was the clothing still clinging to their backs. Allen, in great despair, walked to St. George to seek counsel from President Snow. He was advised to move the family to St. George, which he did. Another good neighbor, W. C. McMullin, hauled the Stouts to St. George, arriving July 3, 1866.

The low altitude in St. George had an adverse effect on the children's health. Orlando died July 16, 1866, from diarrhea. Allen's left eye having gone blind, his right eye began to give trouble, but like Job of old, he bore testimony in the midst of his greatest adversities to the divinity of the gospel:

"Obey the counsel of those whom God has set in His Kingdom, and never turn aside from keeping the commandments of the Lord. The day will come when you will see the Saints of God free from all oppression in Zion. It is this knowledge that has helped me to bear up under sickness and death, being driven by mobs from land to land, robbed and driven for the Gospel's sake. My body is now so feeble that I cannot stand much more, unless the Lord shall strengthen me to bear it."

The Lord did strengthen him for he lived twenty-three more years to accomplish a great work for his ancestors. In the midst of all this sickness and poverty the family moved into a house belonging to Isaiah Cox located in the lower part of town. Here Allen started to make baskets, drying fruit and working at odd jobs.

July 28, 1866, the first marriage took place in the family. Martha Ann married Thomas Pitts of Leeds, England. Thomas was born in December, 1926, a son of Peter and Mary Pitts. Nothing more is known of his ancestry. Thomas had arrived in the Valley September 20, 1864, and within two years, had reached St. George. After the marriage the couple made their home in Paragoonah where they lived many years.

Allen's eyes continued to harass him with increasing intensity. He reached a point in physical suffering where fortitude was intolerable. In desperation he went to Salt Lake City to seek medical advice. Ten different physicians made conflicting recommendations. All agreed, however, the disease was not cancer. The apparent incompetency of these doctors reduced Allen to a state of frustration. Thwarted, Allen left for home.

Before leaving Salt Lake City Allen witnessed the marriage of his second daughter, Lydia Mariah, to Charles E. Griffin, September 22, 1866. The ceremony took place in the Endowment House. Charles Emerson Griffin was born May 10, 1836, at Essex, Vermont, son of Albert Bailey and Abigail Varney Griffin. He proved to be an unfaithful husband which may explain the apostasy of his grandchildren (except one) and their deliberate refusal to cooperate toward the compiling of this genealogy.

When Allen arrived in St. George he found his family in destitute circumstances. All the children were hungry, some were sick, the five oldest had entered school wearing rags. Allen plunged into the making and selling of baskets, though his eyes were so bad he could hardly see. He continued in that occupation till the spring of 1868.

In March 1867, the house Allen and the boys had been building, was completed, so the family moved in. April 18, following, Allen's first grandchild made his appearance, Thomas Miles Pitts. A month later, May 9, 1867, a new arrival increased Allen's population to 13, eleven of whom were living. The boy's name was Milton, who was destined to marry but to have no issue.

Half blinded and unwell, Allen wrote in his Journal that his joy was supreme in the knowledge that:

"I labor and toil in pain and sickness my afflictions are light when I contemplate the glory that will come to those who endure to the end."

Allen did make an honest attempt to endure to the end. In 1867 he discontinued the use of tobacco. His 29 years of Mormonism had begun to pay off. This triumph of spirit over the carnal body is evidence supreme that Allen believed that religion was a force that demanded personal reformation rather than mere belief.

In August, 1867, Allen sold the house he had built, receiving in exchange, $400.00 plus a team and wagon. The family rented until the spring of 1868 when the move to Rockville was made. In that village, he purchased a small farm and spent the remaining 21 years in peace. In the higher altitude Allen's health improved. Rockville was Allen's eighth attempt to build a home. It was his last. The farm was planted to corn, vegetables and fruit trees. The construction of a larger house was begun. The first season's crop was successful considering the circumstances.

After the crops were harvested and the soil prepared for the coming season Allen found he had nothing to do. He could not afford to be idle so he went to St. George and spent ten weeks making and selling baskets. He spent his evenings in the School of the Prophets where he was taught the principles of the gospel. In Rockville that same winter, seven of his children were attending Henry Jennings school.

The second season (1869) saw a better and a more productive farm. The next season the farm was feeding the family. That fall, October 28, 1870, a new arrival raised the Stout population to 12 (living), his name, Don Carlos Fisk, who spent but 139 days with the family, then returned to his maker. Cause of the sudden exit, measles.

After the crops had been harvested (1871) and the land fertilized, he went to the town of Washington to seek employment. In the day time he made baskets, and in the evenings he taught Masonry. In March, 1872, he went to Salt Lake City to find more work. While there his eye became inflamed so he saw an eye specialist. Dr. Anderson, after a careful examination, recommended that he be permitted to cut off the lump that was causing the blindness. Allen agreed, so without the use of anesthetics, the offending organ was cut off. Says Allen:

"The pain was so acute, I had no language to describe it."

In June 1872 Allen returned to Rockville to find that three of his children had married during his absence. Alfred had married Mary Emma Langston, March 7, 1872. Hosea married Clarinda Jane Langston, March 25, 1872. These Langston girls were the daughters of John and Clarinda Phillips Langston. John was the son of Francis and Elizabeth Heatcut Langston. That's all the Langstons know of their ancestry. Clarinda was the daughter of Israel and Dorothy Rose Phillips. No more is known of these lines. Rebecca married, April 18, 1872, to John Fabin Dennett. John has 44 known ancestors so his pedigree deserves a place in this genealogy. A few days after his arrival in Rockville, Allen saluted a new daughter, Huldah Louisa, born June 24, 1872, who was destined to be the mother of 8 children. There was another marriage in the family which took place in Sandy, Utah. Allen Joseph Stout, Jr. married July 6, 1872, to Lucy Elizabeth Cole, born January 31, 1858, the daughter of James Barnet and Lucy Ward Cole. This is all that is known of Lucy's ancestors.

The farm in Rockville was (1872) in its fifth year. That was the first year a surplus was produced. He spent the rest of the year hauling this surplus to Cedar City and other communities trading these products for other necessities of life. March 17, 1873, the new home he had been working on for six years, was completed, so the Stouts moved in. On that date Allen had six children at home. The old house was entirely inadequate to house his large family. In April of 1873, a very heavy frost hit Rockville. All the fruit in Allen's orchard was killed. This loss greatly discouraged him. There was little work left to be done on the farm so he left the boys in charge and went to Salt Lake City to seek employment. He probably found work there since he did not return to Rockville until August. In Rockville he was greeted by a severe attack of cholera morbus, which, Allen says:

"Nearly used me up."

The winter, 1873-74, he spent in Rockville making and selling baskets.

Brigham Young made his first and only visit to Rockville in April, 1874. His mission there was to organize the United Order. The people of Rockville accepted the adventure with enthusiasm. The order was fairly successful the first season—considering the inexperience of the people. In 1875, however, the people voted to let each member be a steward over his own property and pay a portion of his income into the Order as revenue. The Order died a natural death at the end of 1875. Allen was a staunch member as long as it lasted.

The last daughter in the family arrived April 8, 1875, her name, Anna Smith Fisk, who was destined to live fifty days. Eleven days before her exit, Allen added another daughter-in-law to his clan. David Fisk was married to Henrietta Cox, May 17, 1875. She and her two sisters will have their pedigree printed in this genealogy. Their Cox side of the pedigree shows 204 ancestors while the Janes ancestry has 542.

Amanda suffered a lot from rheumatism and dropsy in 1875. In December she had recovered sufficiently to accompany Allen to St. George. The temple at that time was nearly finished. Returning to Rockville Allen was attacked by a violent cough which left him helpless until the spring of 1876. Late that fall the last of the clan arrived, Marion Fisk, born November 20, 1876, who was destined to be the father of 16 children. Complications developed which kept her bedfast for twelve weeks. She gained her health just in time to make the journey to St. George for the Temple dedication, April 6, 1877. This was the great event they had been waiting for. Soon they would be able to serve as Saviors on Mount Zion. They returned to Rockville to prepare the names for the sacred ordinances.

In two months time, Allen was ready with names and dates to do the ordinance work for his beloved kin. He worked in the temple just one week. During that week (June 12) his grandmother, Pleasant Chauncey Smith was vicariously baptized. Amanda may have served as proxy. Three days later she did serve as proxy when Allen's mother received her endowments. The ordinance of baptism was done for three women who were later sealed to Allen. They were: Margaret and Rachel Stout and Elizabeth Dillen. After Allen's return to Rockville he was sick for several weeks. Late in July he made another trip to the temple.

The first recorded work done was July 31—the last was August 3rd, so he spent four days in the Temple. July 31, baptisms were done for Joseph, his father, Samuel and Rachel Stout, and Daniel Smith. August 1, Allen served as proxy for his father's endowments. August 2, Allen served as proxy for his grandfather, Samuel Stout's endowments—while Amanda may have stood proxy for Rachel Chauncey Stout, his wife. August 3rd, two endowments and three sealings took place. Daniel and Pleasant Smith were endowed and sealed as man and wife. Allen's parents were sealed. Allen's grandparents: Samuel and Rachel Stout were sealed. This was a real accomplishment for a man in Allen's state of health. Allen spent the last five months of 1877 in Rockville.

During the decade 1875-1885, Allen had a lot of correspondence with eastern relatives for the purpose of collecting family genealogy. He sought names and dates of all distant relatives. He succeeded in securing hundreds of names which went back three and sometimes four generations. These names and their dates he assembled in lists which had no relation to their relationships. It was difficult to determine who were parents and who were children. The names in all four generations were all mixed up. For each individual, however, he kept a record of his birth, dates of baptisms, endowments, and sealings. His Temple Record Book, which can be found in the Utah Genealogical Library, is a mass of names and dates. A careful study can place these names in their proper family groups.

In January, 1878, Allen spent two months in the Temple. Amanda was with him most of the time. We have seen that Allen and Amanda were sealed by Brigham Young April 30, 1848. An official record of that sealing was probably lost. So, to keep the record straight, this sealing was repeated February 21, 1878. On that same day, Allen and Amanda stood proxy for the sealing of John and Amy Sweet Sagers, grandparents of Amanda. Two additional generations on the Sagers family were also sealed. We do not know whether Allen and Amanda knew the facts about John and Amy or not. This couple had been divorced about 1821. Amy married Ira Clothier about 1822. The question still is: Will Amy approve of that sealing when the time comes? As noted above, Amanda served as proxy when Allen was sealed to three women: Margaret and Rachel Stout and Elizabeth Dillen. On Allen's blood lines we find four possible Margarets, and two possible Rachels. Which could she be? We cannot identify Elizabeth Dillen, she was probably an in-law. If these sealings had ended here we could understand, but they continue on with 44 more sealings. Seven were sealed in 1879; 20 were sealed in 1880; 2 were sealed in 1881; 9 were sealed in 1883; 4 were sealed in 1884, and one was sealed in 1886. A total of 47. The names of these women are interesting: There were 16 Chaunceys, 13 Fisks, 3 Stouts, 3 Brewers, 2 Smiths, 2 Greenleafs, and 8 miscellaneous names. These women were probably single girls who never married. Allen decided these women should be sealed to some one, so he volunteered to be the victim. After the resurrection these women will be given the opportunity to approve or disapprove of these sealings. Some are sure to approve.

The balance of the temple session was given over to the Walker and Fisk families. A second trip to the temple in April enabled him to continue ordinances for the Walker and Fisk lines. Back in Rockville in September (1878) he took sick which disabled him until March of 1879. The next three months he was again active in the temple. The baptisms and endowments for three generations of Sweets were completed. Of interest to many readers of this genealogy is the sealing of Minerva Sagers to Joseph Eaton, April 17, 1879. Joseph was her third husband. The Howard family has had her sealed to Ira Fisk, her first husband, June 30, 1954. Minerva will wake up after her resurrection to find she has two husbands. Which one will she choose?

Other important ordinances completed during that session were: Moses and Huldah Wilber Fisk were endowed and sealed, April 17, 1879. The day before, April 16, Hezekiah and Rhodah Walker Fisk were endowed and sealed. April 18, Hezekiah (Sr.) and Hannah Sterry Fisk were endowed and sealed. That same day, Benjamin and Abigail Bowen Fisk were also endowed and sealed. The parents of Amanda—Alfred and Mariah Sagers Fisk were endowed and sealed April 17, 1879. May 16, 1879, John and Patience Walker were endowed and sealed. In June, Allen's health broke down so he was taken back to Rockville by his son David. There he remained four months.

September 18, 1879, Amanda Melvina was married to her first cousin, Lewis Wilson Stout, a son of Hosea Stout, born April 27, 1856 (died March 31, 1889). Amanda was destined to be the mother of five children.

In November, Allen was well again so he returned to the temple. December 11, 1879, he received a Patriarchal Blessing from the hands of William G. Perkins. The main points in that blessing are as follows:

His lineage is of Joseph through the loins of Ephraim. He was promised many wives. His posterity would be great and powerful in the Kingdom of God. He was destined to do a lot of temple work. The promise was made that he would see the Ten Tribes return from the North Country. He will walk the streets of the New Jerusalem which will be paved with gold. He will hear the cry of the great Bridegroom and see the mighty host with Him coming with power and great glory. He will see the Lamb of God and will partake of His likeness.

Some of these promises were fulfilled before his end. The rest will be fulfilled later.

Illness forced him to return to Rockville in February, 1880. He remained home until October when the passion for temple work became irresistible. He managed to keep working until February, 1881. The last two weeks he became so weak he could not walk to the temple. Retiring to Rockville his poor health kept him there two years.

May 1, 1883, Allen was well enough to return to his labors in the temple. He spent a busy seven weeks serving as proxy for his worthy kinsmen. The closing of the temple forced Allen to return to Rockville. During those four months he worked in the garden, bottling fruit, nursing Amanda, and storing up energy for another trip to the temple. In November he felt strong enough to try again. His strength lasted but two weeks, so his son David was called upon to take him home. Four months of recuperation was needed to prepare him for another session at the temple. In March 1884, we find Allen again in the temple satisfying his conscience. During that period, his Bishop recommended that he be ordained a High Priest. This authority was given May 1, 1884, by William Faucett, President of the High Priest's Quorum. He had been a Seventy 40 years.

Before returning to Rockville in late June, he witnessed two marriages. David was married twice: first to Mary Jane Terry, June 13, 1884. Mary Jane was born September 26, 1857, the daughter of James P. and Mary Richards Terry. She had a choice lineage of 24 known ancestors. David's second marriage was to Julia Cox, June 18, a sister of Henrietta. (A biography of Julia is published in the author's book: "Our Pioneer Ancestors," pages 252-278). After these marriages Allen returned to Rockville, there he remained until March, 1885.

During his vacation in Rockville, Allen added another daughter-in-law to his clan. Allen Joseph Fisk Stout married November 28, 1884, to Sarah Ann Empey, a daughter of William and Martha Fielding Empey, born September 16, 1859. The writer has found 15 of her ancestors. Allen and Sarah were destined to be the parents of nine children.

The March session at the temple had lasted four weeks. He made another short excursion to the temple in May but that visit was cut short by the news of Amanda's accident. She had fallen and broken a leg, May 16, 1885. Her disability kept Allen in Rockville a full year. During that year, son, John Henry Fisk, was married, March 5, 1886, to Annie Selena Hall, born April 2, 1866, daughter of John T. and Keziah DeGray Hall. John was destined to be the father of ten children. Annie has 18 known ancestors.

In June, 1886, Allen had saved up enough strength to make another trip to St. George. There he managed to work two weeks before his health forced him back to Rockville.

Allen remained in Rockville all of 1887 and 1888. He was too weak and sick to take more punishment. What little energy he had was devoted to the care of Amanda who was still weaker. David returned from his mission, May 31, 1888. He then married a fourth wife, Sarah Lucretia Cox, June 26, a sister of Henrietta and Julia. Sarah was born December 20, 1866.

The summer of 1888 Amanda suffered several strokes which paralyzed her left side and left her speechless and completely helpless. Her final stroke came in September, leaving her unconscious until the end, September 21. Decomposition set in so rapidly that the funeral had to be held the same day. All her children were present for the services except Amanda who lived in Leamington. The funeral was held in front of David's home under the trees. The speakers were Bishop Charles Smith and James P. Terry. One week prior to her death, Lydia, Amanda's oldest daughter, had died, September 14.

1888 was an eventual year for Allen. After Amanda's demise, Allen had but 453 more days to live. Three of his children were still home. Milton, age 21, was probably on his own by that time. Huldah, age 16, a husky who looked like a girl of 19, was quite able to care for herself. Marion, age 12, was the only one who could be counted a dependent. Marion had a worthy guardian for the next 453 days.

March 2, 1889, Hosea Stout, brother of Allen, died. This left Allen the sole survivor of his father's family. More than ever before, he felt a great responsibility resting on his shoulders. He had always sensed the importance of baptism and endowments for the dead. During the later years he had begun to see the necessity of sealing children to their parents. His Journal for March 13, 1887, expressed the hope that his parent's children be sealed to Joseph Smith. He left a suggestion—in case he failed to do that work—he wanted his children to do it.

In March 1889 none of these sealings had been taken care of. This neglect frightened Allen. Like a cornered lion waiting for the kill, Allen mustered all his strength for the journey to St. George. In triumph he achieved his greatest objective. April 9, 1889, the children of Joseph Stout were sealed to the Prophet Joseph Smith. Likewise, the children of Samuel Stout and Daniel Smith were also sealed to the Prophet. Allen explains that these ordinances were all he was allowed to do at that time. Five years later the church changed its policy relative to the sealing of children. President Wilford Woodruff ruled that henceforth all children were to be sealed to their own blood parents. In 1941 the author read these comments in Allen's Journal and investigated to find these sealings had never been corrected. He (the author) immediately made arrangements for these three groups of children to be properly sealed (July 2, 1941) to their own parents. June 5, 1889 was the last day Allen spent in the temple. Since June, 1877, it is estimated that Allen performed approximately 1600 ordinances for his dead. How many of his descendants can say as much? It might be interesting to note that after the dedication of the temple in April, 1877, Allen made 14 different trips to St. George to achieve his great ambition. Considering the state of his health and the great sacrifices he made to achieve his goal, we can truly name ALLEN JOSEPH STOUT as the greatest Savior on Mount Zion in this Dispensation. In sorrow Allen returned to Rockville to spend his last six months.

Unfortunately the Journal is silent during the last six months of his life. Near the end he noted the arrival of a grandson, Emerald W. Stout, born June 10, 1889. The very last entry is for June 29. Says Allen:

"We have put out apples and apricots—all we could this week. We got some help, Ellen, George, and Anna helped some."

The end came December 18, 1889.

At the time of his death, 12 of his 17 children were alive. On that date, 52 of his 61 grandchildren were alive. Not until 43 days after his death, did the first greatgrandchild arrive.

At the time this genealogy went to press his descendants were as follows:

WILLIAM HENRY HARRISON SAGERS

Known in life as "HARRISON"—so in the interest of space, that's how he will be identified. Harrison was born May 3, 1815, LeRoy, Genesee County, New York, son of John and Amy Sweet Sagers. We know nothing of his youth until he was eighteen years of age. At that age he and his parents were living in Elk Creek, Erie County, Pennsylvania.

January 7, 1833, he was baptized by Evan M. Greene and John B. Boynton, two Mormon missionaries who had been commissioned by Joseph Smith to take the restored gospel to western Pennsylvania. These missionaries were very successful in Elk Creek where they found many honest souls hungry for the truth. Harrison was their first convert. He drank in their teachings like a hungry wolf his prey. Unconditionally, he accepted all their teachings. Harrison went all out for the new religion. His enthusiasm knew no bounds. He immediately left for Kirtland where his earnestness attracted the attention of Joseph Smith who called him on a mission. The Journal History says Harrison accompanied John B. Boynton and Evan M. Greene—on a mission. They left Kirtland, passed through Rome, and arrived in Elk Creek early in February. Here Harrison was instrumental in converting his own parents. Within two months nearly all the Sagers and Clothiers were members of the church. John and Amy were most fortunate in the possession of a son who led them from darkness and doubt to immortality and eternal life. The two months of active proselyting in Elk Creek paid rich dividends.

The Journal History for June 17, 1833, records the exit of Elders Lyman, Cutler, Alfred Fisk (brother-in-law of Harrison), and Harrison from Elk Creek. These missionaries went to Fayette and continued their activities. After a season in that area, Elders Greene, Lyman, and Harrison continued on to Villanova in Chautauqua County where their missions ended.

Harrison was called on a second mission, this time to the state of Maine. The Journal History for February 20, 1834, notes the decision of the High Council in Kirtland to appoint Orson Pratt and Harrison to a mission in Maine. They were instructed to do missionary work to and from their destination. A conference was to be held in Saco, Maine on June 13, 1834, but it's doubtful Harrison attended that conference. He probably returned to Kirtland in time to join Zion's Camp which left Kirtland about May 1, 1834, for Missouri.

Zion's army arrived in Liberty, Clay County, June 23, 1834. We have no record of Harrison being attacked by cholera as was Alfred Fisk, his brother-in-law. It is easy to believe that Harrison would care for the burial of Alfred. The revelation received by Joseph Smith (Section 105) releasing the crusaders from their mission of redemption satisfied Harrison. The first group leaving for Kirtland included Harrison.

The activities of Harrison during the next four years is unknown. The Journal History for February 6, 1838, identifies him with the reorganization of one of the Seventies Quorums. The Journal reports (June 28, 1838) the organization of the Adam-On-di-Ahman Stake which took place at the home of Lyman Wight. Harrison was chosen a member of its High Council. September 25 Joseph Smith sent Harrison to investigate reports of mob violence in rural areas near Far West. Harrison was ordained an Elder September 26, 1838.

Three more years pass before the name of Harrison is mentioned again in church or civil records. Church Chronology, for October 7, 1841, reports that the Council of Twelve met and called a number of brethren on missions. Harrison was called to Jamaica, West Indies. We do not know when he left, how long the mission lasted, nor when he returned. We do know he was back in Nauvoo in November, 1843.

The Journal History for November 25, 1843, says "the High Council set on the case of Harrison Sagers charged with 'seduction' and having stated that I (Joseph Smith) had taught it was right, charged sustained." No reference is made to a penalty, if any. Five months later, Harrison found himself in more hot water. In the History of the Church, Vol. 6, p. 333, April 13, 1844, it is recorded that the "High Council received a charge against Harrison Sagers for teaching spiritual wife doctrines and neglecting his family." What the verdict was in this case—is not given. We are sure, however, that Harrison accepted polygamy unconditionally. The Nauvoo Temple records, January 22, 1846, show he was sealed to two women the same day: Olive Amanda Wheaton and Sarah L. Bailey. Later, he may have married (no sealing record) a third woman named Harriet Emeline Barney, probably in March, 1846.

That Harrison was indeed a real polygamist we can prove from the Journal History. Under date of April 1, 1847, it is said that President Young received a report from Joseph A. Stratton of St. Louis advising that Harrison Sagers and another member (Lysander Gee)—members of the St. Louis Branch, were living in polygamy. The women in this case are the three named above. A sister of Harrison was the plural wife of Lysander Gee. This report not only proves Harrison was a polygamist, but it acquaints us with Harrison's travels. Otherwise we would not have known where Harrison went after the exodus from Nauvoo.

The mother of Harriet Barney was Sarah Bowen Estabrook. The Estabrook Genealogy lists Harrison and Harriet as the parents of Mary, born December 24, 1847, in St. Louis. The child died in the same city June 27, 1849. This means the family lived in St. Louis during those 18 months. What happened during the next 13 months is not so easy to figure out. We believe the family moved to Council Bluffs. The Journal History for July 4, 1850, says: "The first Company to leave the Missouri River (July 4, 1850) under the sponsorship of the Perpetual Emigrating Fund, arrived in the Valley, October 13, 1850." Edward Hunter was in charge of that Company. Harrison Sagers and family is listed as members of that group. Naturally we are curious to know who were the members of Harrison's clan. The Utah Census for 1850 should answer that question.

The Utah 1850 Census shows the absence of Olive Amanda Wheaton and Sarah L. Bailey from the Sagers family. Obviously, these women had either deserted or divorced Harrison after 1846. There is the possibility of their death. We have no evidence that they ever came to the Valley. The census lists Harrison, age 35, painter, Harriet, age 20, Lucy, age 20, Ruth, age 18, William, age 1, and John H., two months. Since 1846 Harrison had lost two wives and gained two. The new additions were Lucy Marillo Wheaton and Ruth Adelia Wheaton—probably sisters or cousins of Olive. We do not know when Harrison married these two women, but was very likely after he married Harriet Barney. He was sealed to Lucy and Ruth in the Endowment House, June 10, 1851.

The Census Bureau makes the claim that the 1850 count was not completed till 1852. Since the Sagers did not arrive in the Valley till late October, 1850, they may not have been contacted by the census taker till 1852. The contact took place in Tooele County. Lucy's son, William, age one year, was probably born in late 1851. This means Harrison married Lucy about March, 1851. We should be more accurate in determining Ruth's marriage date. Her first born—John H., was born December 10, 1851, this means her marriage to Harrison could easily be in March, 1851. John was two months old when the census taker made his visit. If this is true then the census taker made his visit in February, 1852. No children are listed for Harriet although her oldest son, Royal, was three months old in February, 1852. The February date for the visit gives greater consistency for each member of the family.

The descendants of Harrison naturally want to know when the family moved to Tooele County. We must depend on the History of the Tooele Stake for this answer. According to this source Harrison and Royal Barney were the first to settle at the mouth of the canyon which was later named for Barney. This settlement was late in the fall of 1850. If this is true then Harrison lost no time moving there after arriving in the Valley. The Stake History adds that the Sagers family did not remain long in the canyon—in a short time they moved into the town of Tooele. The Stake History confirms the fact that Harrison was a polygamist. Harrison was appointed a Counselor to Bishop John Rowberry, serving from 1851 to 1854. It was during this period that Harrison took Lucy and Ruth to the Endowment House in Salt Lake where they were sealed to him—June 10, 1851. In the first election held in Tooele County, August, 1852, Harrison was chosen County Assessor.

Harrison was an ardent polygamist if we can believe the record. December 3, 1852, he married Frances Carmelia Adams. Frances failed to adjust herself to this strange situation so she divorced him, March 8, 1853. This action left Harrison with the same three wives—but not for long. Frances must have given Harriet ideas. The dissatisfaction stirred up by Frances became contagious. Harriet also began showing signs of frustration. Sharing her husband with two other women was more than Harriet could take. Her patience was exhausted in 1855, when she asked President Brigham Young for a temple divorce from Harrison. This petition was granted. This freed her from all competition with other women. Imagine her consternation when Brigham Young proposed marriage to her. We are shocked that she would consent. March 14, 1856, Harriet became Brigham's 47th wife. Now, instead of sharing her husband with two women, she was expected to share him with 46 other women. Brigham adopted the three children who took the Young name. In 1959, 218 persons have taken the name "Young."

In 1856 Harrison had a small family of two wives and four children. Another child was added in 1857. In 1858 he found another woman who was willing to serve as his third wife. Her name: Marion Browning Smith whom he married June 5, 1858. She became the mother of six children before she was forced to divorce Harrison.

The Census of 1860 gives us another picture of the family. This count shows Harrison to be a farmer, 44 years old (this means the census taker made his visit before May 3). This census lists two wives for Harrison—Ruth and Marion. Lucy is not named, but her three children are: William, age 10, Dinah, age 4, and Asa, age 2. Lucy's absence from the family is difficult to explain. She could have died, or worse, deserted Harrison. A tradition suggests she took Dinah and Asa back to her old home in Providence, New York, then vanished into oblivion. Her son William died soon after the census was taken. Asa is known to have been living in Oklahoma in 1910. He died in Burley, Idaho, June 23, 1932. Wife Ruth, age 27, is listed with four of her children: John Henry, age 9, Don Carlos, age 7, Lucinda, age 3, and Ruth, age two months. Marion is listed with one child, William, age 1.

It is difficult to follow the movements of Harrison during the sixties. With the exception of William, all six of Marion's children were born during that decade. Since the 1860 census lists him a farmer one would naturally suppose his Tooele farm would keep him busy. He did own a 160 acre farm at Erda (six miles north of Tooele City) which he sold to Robert Skelton, March 28, 1870. This land should have kept him busy on a full time basis. Instead we have traditions that lead us to believe otherwise. There is a persistent story that he took wife Ruth and her four children to Sanpete County to live. Ruth's daughter Ruth, claims to have been born in Moroni. A careful search of civil and church records in Sanpete give no evidence that the family ever lived there. Why Harrison had so much time to travel around the country when his farm demanded all his attention is difficult to understand. The Journal History for March 10, 1863, suggests he might have been living in Salt Lake County. The Third District Court met and called jurymen. The name of Harrison is listed. The same History for July 31, 1864, lists Harrison as a member of the Deseret Agricultural Manufacturing Society. This does not prove he was not living in Tooele. Three months later, the Journal (October 19, 1864) reports a reunion of all veterans of Zion's Camp. Harrison attended that social. Two years later, the Journal reports another festival was held (October 10, 1866) in Salt Lake City. This is the last time Harrison is mentioned by that source.

The Census for 1870 gives us another picture of the family. Marion is not listed but her five children are. She did not divorce him until about 1872, so she should be listed. In 1874 she married James Steel and moved to Lake View—taking her five children, there she remained until death (1879). Wife Ruth is not listed. She had died March 12, 1871, which may mean the census taker did not make his visit until after her demise. None of her children are listed. Her two older boys had left home but the two girls should have been listed. The census adds another wife to the family. Her name, Mary, age 34, who she is still remains a mystery. After Marion's exit in 1872 (?), she was the only wife Harrison could call his own. He married her about 1861. By 1866 she had given him four children. None of these four were listed in the 1870 census. We do not have access to the Census of 1880. That count should solve the problem.

We do not know when Harrison and family left Tooele. The last year he paid taxes in Tooele was in 1876. County records shows he sold same land in Tooele on January 26, 1874. We might conclude he left Tooele between 1877 and 1879. Where did he go? For many years after 1870 his son John Henry lived on a large ranch 35 miles from Soda Springs, Idaho. Harrison and wife could have lived in that area for a season. There are no probate records in that county to indicate that any of the Sagers ever lived there. Eventually John and Harrison moved to Blackfoot for that is where Ethel, John's daughter, was born in 1887. It is possible Harrison arrived in Blackfoot in 1879.

It is indeed strange that Harrison and his last family should disappear from the Tooele ward records after 1870. The Blackfoot ward records which began in 1880 has no trace of any of the Sagers. After the family moved to Blackfoot they had no contacts with the Mormon Church. Was Harrison excommunicated from the Church? The Historian's Office has no such record. A descendant of Harrison suggested to the writer that Harrison may have tied up with the Godbe Movement. The writer went all out to prove or disprove this possibility. He found no evidence to connect him with that group. When the Godbites failed to establish a new church they joined the Liberal Party in Utah. It has been impossible to connect Harrison with that political group.

The Will of Harrison reveals he owned a sixty acre farm one mile east of Blackfoot. The title to the land was unencumbered. He bequeathed the property to wife Elizabeth and four children: Ida, Ada Adelia, Eugene and Alfred. The Will proved shortly after his death, claims he passed away June 19, 1886. His son John Henry was one of the signed witnesses to the document. Elizabeth Mary or Mary Elizabeth, his only legal wife, vanished into oblivion after his death. If they had remained in Blackfoot at least one of the children would have married there. The Bingham County records has no record of a Sagers marriage. There is no record of a burial for Elizabeth. She must have sold the farm soon after Harrison's death and moved into a far country.

The descendants of Harrison who read these lines may feel justified in condemning his pioneer ancestor for failing to leave a journal or a written record of his life and activities. Certainly this biography would not be the sketchy tale it is if it were based on solid foundations. If Harrison had left a journal this biography would have far greater value. Before we condemn our hero the reader might examine his own personal records. Only one percent of his descendants are in a position to condemn his failure. The other 99% are no more concerned about the value of family records than are monkeys and natives of blackest Africa.

AMANDA MELVINA SAGERS

Amanda, the youngest child of John and Amy Sweet Sagers, was born in Hanover, New York, May 5, 1821. Nothing is known of her youth. We do know that When 12 years of age she was living in Elk Creek, Erie County, Pennsylvania. March 28, 1833, she was baptized by Evan M. Greene and John B. Boynton, (see Journal History for that date). She followed her mother to Kirtland where she remained at least two years. We do know that her sister, Mariah Sagers Fisk, moved to Missouri in August 1835, so we can easily believe that Amy Clothier and Amanda were in the same wagon train. After the death of Mariah in September, 1835, we believe Amanda accompanied the Clothiers to Far West. We know Amanda lived in Far West till 1838 for that is where she met and married Lysander Gee, September 5, 1838. Fifty-two days later, Governor Boggs issued his famous exterminating order which gave the Gees and all Saints the choice between banishment and death. This was not a pleasant prospect for the newlyweds. Amanda and Lysander met the challenge by moving to Quincy, Adams County, Illinois. In Quincy their first and only child was born, Orlando Lysander Gee, December 12, 1839.

After the arrival of Orlando we do not know how long the Gees remained in Quincy. We do know that Lysander was ordained an Elder April 6, 1840 by William Smith. The General Conference of the Church was held that day in Nauvoo so the author believes the ordination took place in Nauvoo. Lysander served as a Missionary in Iowa in 1844. In 1845, he was made a member of the 31st Quorum of Seventies. Lysander was born in Austinburg, Ohio, September 1, 1818, the son of Salmon and Sarah Watson Crane Gee. His pedigree, with 56 known ancestors, shows he came from the same progenitors that Joseph Smith did. His father, Salmon, was a member of the First Seven Presidents of Seventies from April 6, 1837, to March 6, 1838.

The author believes the Gees moved to Nauvoo before the April Conference of 1840. The Nauvoo Temple records show that Amanda was endowed the same day she was sealed to Lysander (February 4, 1846.) Lysander had previously been endowed (January 6, 1846.) Lysander believed in polygamy, as proof the Nauvoo Temple records show he married Theresa Rowley, February 12, 1846.

It is very probable that the Gees accompanied Harrison Sagers to St. Louis in May 1846. The Journal History for April 1847, reports that Harrison Sagers was living in polygamy in St. Louis. The report of Joseph A. Stratton also states that another member was living in polygamy. That other member was Lysander Gee. Lysander did not remain long in polygamy, however, for on October 22, 1848, Amanda died.

How long the Gees remained in St. Louis after her passing is unknown. The Journal History solves this problem. That reliable authority reports (July 4, 1849), that Lysander Gee, wife Theresa, son Orlando, and daughter Rosilia, left the Missouri River in George A. Smith's Fourth Company for the west. They arrived in the Valley October 27, 1849. A nephew of Amanda was in this same Company, John Sagers Eaton.

Lysander and family remained in Salt Lake City about six years. Meanwhile, February 10, 1850, Lysander went into polygamy again. He married Marzella Rowe. About 1855, the family moved to Tooele, there Lysander spent the rest of his life. In the August election of 1878, Lysander was elected the first Prosecuting Attorney of Tooele County. He died June 27, 1894—exactly 50 years after the Prophet's death. At the time of his death, Lysander was the father of 11 children, the grandfather of 16. His son Orlando, married Mary E. Bates. In 1888, Orlando moved to Oakley, Idaho, where he spent the rest of his life.

THE AUTHOR'S MEMOIRS

My sixty-fifth anniversary was a memorable event in my life. The past and future life streams unite on this great occasion then retreat into oblivion. To quote Shakespeare:

"There's a divinity that shapes our ends."

My beginnings and endings may be likened to a stream of water, it deepens and broadens as it flows toward the ocean of life. My youth may be represented by the spring that gurgles and bursts forth from the soil then roars over the rocks in a boisterous bid for recognition. So was my youth, rugged and uncouth. My mature life may be symbolized by the enlarging creek. The stream has ceased its boisterous moods and moves more smoothly in deeper waters. The deeper the streams the more dangerous the cataracts. My life was plagued by many cataracts in its path. Now that age is just beginning to catch up with me, the stream is calm and life has richer meanings. My youth, middle age, and decline are beautifully blended into one grand pattern of peace and joy.

In these memoirs I hope to unfold my life, as on a film, to enable the viewer to see my inner self with all its hopes and aspirations, failures and achievements, conflicts and ambitions, emotions and restraints. My relations with man will receive special emphasis. Those who have violated the ethical code will receive just condemnation. My allies in the cause of righteousness will be richly rewarded. Frankness will be my motto. Let the chips fall where they may.

My autobiography is published in my book: "Our Pioneer Ancestors," pp. 293-381. Since my life story, to the year 1944, is well covered within those pages, the present work will be an abridgement of that period. My memoirs will place emphasis on the period since 1944.

Like Nephi, I was born of goodly parents. I was endowed by a divine heritage. I was favored by a loving Diety to enter mortality just 64 years after the inauguration of the Dispensation of the Fullness of Times. This is the greatest blessing a person can receive. Why should I be chosen by God to arrive at this propitious time and place? The place of birth (in Zion), is just as important as the period in world history. If God did not have a hand in this decision, then I just as well have been born in 1794. In that event, I might have died in the Battle of Waterloo. Again, I could have been born in 1552. In that event, I might have served in the French Army which massacred 70,000 Huguenots in 1572. The instigator of that crime was Pope Pius V, who in the name of religion, celebrated a great victory over non-conformity. The Huguenots were guilty of opposing Catholicism. If I had been unfortunate enough to have been in that Army, I too would have enjoyed the slaughter of the innocents! But God did not want me to live during those times. The Lord held my spirit back till the gospel was restored. That was providence, indeed.

The place where my mortality began was also divine interposition. Suppose I had been born in Mongolia. In that event I would have inherited all the superstitions, false philosophies and vile customs of that heathenish nation. My prospects for achieving salvation under such circumstances would be less than they would be had I served under William the Conqueror in 1066. The place of my birth was providence too.

A divinity did shape my beginning in Rockville, Utah. The time was March 18, 1894. Who could ask for a better beginning? By this timely arrival, I received a greater heritage than all the Kings of England combined. I am sure destiny had a hand in leading my parents from Rockville to Hinckley in 1897. My four years in that town left its memories and impressions which time never erased. Since father was a polygamist the "saints" of Hinckley, being inspired of the Devil, ruthlessly and needlessly persecuted the family with verbal insults and vile slander. These wicked emissaries of Satan never had the moral courage to reveal their true identity, instead, under cover of darkness, they poisoned the air with their filthy carcasses. Since I was only a child of six, I could not appreciate the meaning of the nightly disturbances. Consequently, father decided to move to Mexico where Mormons had greater tolerance for Mormons.

In Colonia Diaz, about 40 miles south of the New Mexico state line, the family assembled in 1901. The social atmosphere was more favorable, but the change of climate played havoc with the children's health. Within eleven months, father lost six youngsters. This frightened the clan. Swiftly, we "escaped" to the mountains. Within a year the family had purchased a farm in Guadalupe, a rural Mexican town, three miles from Casas Grandes. There I spent nine critical years of my youth.

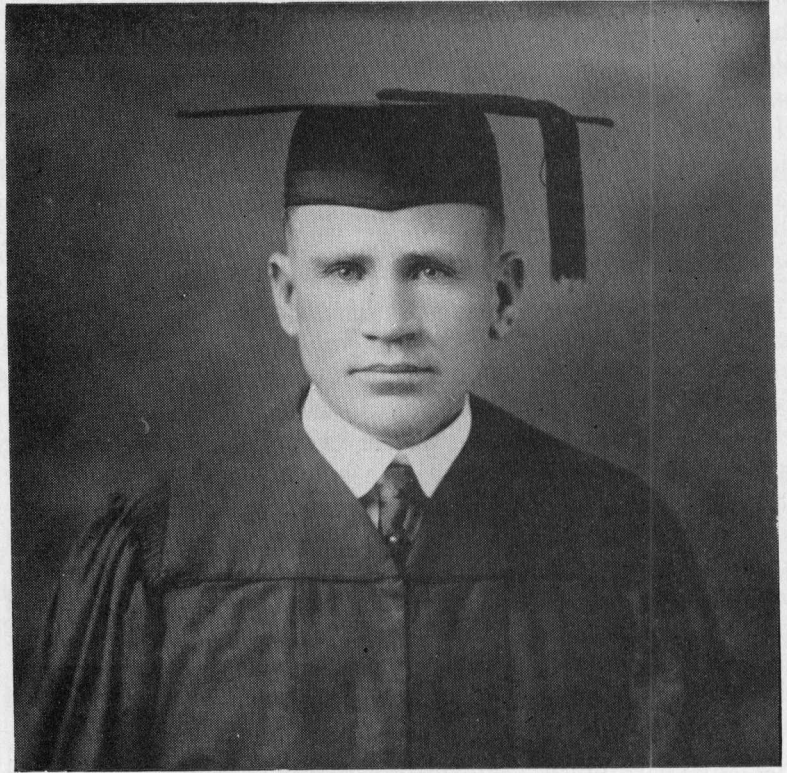

Rectangular in shape, the old six-room adobe house was falling apart when we moved in (1903). Adjacent to the south room, was the barn—a huge adobe structure whose rafters were severed at the top. The roof was ready to collapse when we left in 1912. In this "medieval prison-like fortress," I spent the happiest period of my life. I advanced from Deacon to Priest; puberty to adolescence; and from ignorance to egoism. Without question, I was the meanest kid in Guadalupe. I was subject to all the emotional conflicts of my age. My education was sadly neglected (1903-1908). During that period I lost the equivalent of four years—a loss that effected my entire life. In 1911, I was called by the Church President to prepare for a mission. I spent the last year (before exodus) at the Juarez Stake Academy in preparation for that call. The exodus from Mexico in July 1912, invalidated that call.

My two years of high school at the Millard Academy (1912-1914) was the turning point in my educational career. For the first time I caught the spirit of education and began to make progress. In May 1914, I went to Thatcher, Arizona, where I graduated from the Gila Academy, May 11, 1916. The following September I entered the Brigham Young College, Logan, Utah, as a Freshman. The war postponed my educational pursuits for two years. I joined the Navy November 23, 1917. I was first sent to San Francisco, then to the San Diego Naval Training Station. Training completed, I was placed on a troop train for Norfolk, Virginia. February 22, 1918, I joined the crew of the U.S.S. Georgia. In August, I was given another assignment at Norfolk. When the war to make the "world safe for democracy" ended in November I was discharged (December 19). I left immediately by train for Salt Lake City.

I feel a divinity was still guiding my steps. Whatever I did, that was the path divinely assigned me. I was given employment by the Utah Power and Light Company at Preston, Idaho. Nine months later (September 1919) I registered at the University of Utah. The Lord permitted me to remain in school just one year. He had a greater work for me to do. He sent me on a mission to the Northwestern States Mission. I was set apart June 8, 1920, returned 24 months later. My mission was very successful. Having returned to Utah I entered the Brigham Young University, graduated June 6, 1924. My first year of teaching was at Treasureton, Idaho. Before that school year ended I had committed the greatest blunder of my life. I am not opposed to marriage in principle. It is a divine institution commanded by God for the salvation and exaltation of man. Marriage can mean damnation or exaltation. The character of the contracting parties determine its success or failure. Unfortunately, I chose a companion who proved to be unworthy. She was ignorant, uncultured, irrational, intoxicated by a false pride, and untrue to her covenants. She was everything a man loathes. April 24, 1925, ended my happiness. The agony lasted 24 years.

Yoked to a woman who had no spiritual ideals, no educational aspirations — life became a burden. Life might have been pleasant even under these circumstances had her attitude been negative. Instead, her attitude was extremely antagonistic, unethical, and deceitful. In 1925 my education had only begun. I had ambitions to reach the top. My marriage proved an effective road block to those ambitions. With a wife dedicated to cooperation, compassionate sympathy, and loving confidence I might have achieved those objectives. But those blessings were not to be mine. Instead of cooperation, it was obstruction; instead of sympathy, it was antagonism; instead of love, it was scorn.

I attended twelve weeks of Summer School (1925) at the University of Utah. The following winter I taught at the Wattis Junior High School in Carbon County. The school was discontinued. I attended twelve weeks of Summer work at the Utah State Agricultural College. In September I moved to Salt Lake and registered at the University of Utah for three quarters of graduate work. In June 1927, I was given the Master's Degree in History and Political Science. The school year had left me $900.00 in debt. Eight years later I paid off that debt.

In September I began teaching at Randolph, Utah. I enjoyed my work there immensely. I made a serious mistake when I refused to sign a new contract. I was later justifiably punished for that blunder. In September, after a hectic summer, I began teaching in the Salt Lake City schools. Conditions were very unsatisfactory so I resigned December 31. The first seven months of 1929, was the toughest I ever spent. Employment was very difficult to find. In August, I moved to Thomas, Idaho—taught one year in the senior high school. It was a difficult position to fill. I did my work well in spite of opinions to the contrary.

In May 1930, I moved to Blackfoot where I engaged in private business for 14 months. Having passed a Civil Service test, I was appointed a federal prison guard with the Bureau of Prisons. I reported for duty, July 24, 1931, at the officers training post in New York City. After four months training, I was sent to a prison farm at Fort Eustis, Virginia. I served there till October, 1934, when I was transferred to the Federal Mental Hospital at Springfield, Missouri. I worked there till November 1937, when I was fired for "inefficiency." That was the official reason given. The real reason—I could not be intimidated by a ruthless gang of dishonest officers whose morals disgraced the service. I still say—Uncle Sam is an honest employer. The Uncle has difficulty finding executives who are honest, impartial, and morally uncorruptible. The same could be said for the Navy.

I traded my Plymouth sedan for a Dodge Panel truck and moved to Mesa, Arizona. In this citrus country, I engaged in the orange business for five months. Using the same Dodge truck, I moved to Salt Lake City (May 1938), sold the truck and used equity as a down payment on a home, located at 923 South 4th East.

My arrival in Utah was like jumping out of the frying pan into the fire. I experienced 6 months of hell, fire, and brimstone. It was one crisis after another. Sickness unemployment, and domestic hell destroyed all possibilities for happiness. How I survived that ordeal will never be known. The tragedy ended in August, 1939, when I joined the Americanization Program. I spent three enjoyable years teaching American Government to foreigners who were seeking citizenship. When the Federal Government withdrew its funds, I felt I had completed a successful mission.

July 1, 1942, I again joined the army of unemployed. The next twenty-seven months was another virulent period. I held 14 different jobs during that critical period. I should have known a man my age should not attempt to compete in the labor market—even in war times. The agony ended October 9, 1944. I was appointed a teacher in the Salt Lake City schools, was assigned to the Roosevelt Junior High School. This position may be considered the beginning of a new chapter in my life. October, 1944, ended the period covered by my Autobiography as given in "Our Pioneer Ancestors." My Memoirs to this date is an abridgment of that Autobiography. Henceforth, the Memoirs will be more detailed and interpretative.

September 23, 1944, I received the first copy of my book: "Our Pioneer Ancestors." Its appearance created a sensation. Its reception was mixed. People who were jealous of my achievement condemned the book with all the power at their command. Others praised it to the skies. One over-zealous cousin labeled it a "literary masterpiece!" Another critic branded it a fake and a disgrace to the clan. Joyce Richardson said she would not accept a copy gratis if paid a thousand dollars. Like the Book of Mormon, it created friends and enemies—both groups rejected it because it printed the truth.

My own family was more bold with their criticism. I was condemned for being too frank and exposing family secrets. The passage most vehemently objected to was the reference to Wendell's rejection of Joseph Smith as a Prophet (p. 287). I can now reaffirm with emphasis that the implications implied in that debate are true. I defy any one to produce evidence to the contrary. Wendell was indeed very emphatic in his denial that Joseph Smith was a true Prophet. Any one well acquainted with his views during that decade knew he had completely apostatized from the Church. He was never excommunicated, and for good reasons. Due to inactivity, his membership record was permanently lost. Consequently, no Bishop or High Council was cognizant of his existence. The entire family knew these facts — what they objected to was its publication. His apostasy was supposed to remain a family secret. Secrecy, they reasoned, might induce him to repent. This dream proved to be a forlorn hope for he died (1947) with attitudes unchanged.

There were three in my family who were unpromising. They were Eunice, Genevieve and Abraham. They bitterly assailed me for what I had printed. They not only resented the implications, but strongly approved of Wendell's views. This was the crux of the controversy. I maintained that any one supporting his philosophy was a traitor to the Church. They resented these implications, too, but strongly implied that Wendell was right in any argument with me. This is why our relations were completely severed. I affirm that future generations have a right to know the truth.

Another type of opposition came from Lafayette C. Lee. In March, 1945, he charged I had printed erroneous and malicious falsehoods. He cited the statement, page 23, wherein Hosea admits his cruelty to brother Allen. This, he charged, was not only false, but a concocted lie dreamed up by me. The reader may confirm the fact that my "story" is a direct quotation from Hosea's Journal. So, Hosea, himself, is authority for the admission of cruelty. That a man could descend to this level in criticism is incomprehensible.

My wife's sanity had progressively worsened since arriving in Utah. During periods of unemployment her mental conditions reached dangerous proportions. She would erupt into violent spasms of loud screaming, vile profanity, lewd blasphemy, and obscene impropriety. One of those spasmodic fits was climaxed by an attempt on my life. Seizing the radio, she flung the instrument, striking me in the face, causing serious injuries. I did not retaliate in kind, but forced her to stop without harming her.

This horrible experience forced me to do a lot of thinking. Was it wise to continue my marital existence with a brute? Obviously, I had the best reasons for seeking an end to the farce. I consulted a lawyer for advice. He assured me I was fully justified in seeking relief. I made the problem a matter of prayer. I finally came to the sober conclusion that if I took the initiative in breaking up the marriage I would stand condemned before God. Knowing the wife did not possess such a conscience, I knew in time she would take that responsibility. The prophecy came true.

I did not receive the moral support a husband is entitled to. Instead, I was malignantly plagued by a traitor. When my back was turned, she was busy assassinating my character. She went to the authorities with tall tales of mistreatment and persecution. She hoodwinked these willing minds into believing she was telling the truth. She brain-washed the minds of my children with perfidious accusations of evil intent. Unlike a true companion, she was a bitter enemy of my friends, and a true friend of my enemies.

The two years I served in the City Schools (1944-1946) was an enjoyable experience. My tenure of office was insecure since I was classified as a "Supplementary Teacher." Meaning I was employed only during an emergency due to a shortage of teachers. My assignment the first year, included three classes in Regional Problems and two in mathematics. Second year, five classes in Regional Problems.

1944 was another presidential year. The Republicans met in Chicago and announced good times awaited the return of the G.O.P. Their platform, inspired by the vested interests, was plainly aimed to keep the common man in slavery. They nominated Thomas E. Dewey to achieve their objectives. In July Roosevelt was nominated for a fourth term. His record as a champion of the common man won my vote. I also supported Elbert D. Thomas who won his last term in the Senate. The election of Roosevelt was unprecedented in American history. I voted a straight Republican ticket on the state and country level — but none were elected. Governor Maw, who in my opinion, deserved to be defeated, was elected in spite of my vote.

I did fairly well in 1944. My total earnings, $1300.00 I paid $55.00 to the church. My indebtedness was reduced. Owen, who had joined the Merchant Marine, March 5, 1944, was sailing the South Pacific as the year ended.

The great war ended. But the war in my family continued with unrelenting intensity. Eunice, who had burned her copy of "Our Pioneer Ancestors," to insult me, had entered into sinister relations with the traitor to break up my family. She boastfully announced that when we did separate, she would aggressively support the deceiver — right or wrong. Four years later, she did just that.

In spite of opinions to the contrary, I feel the publication of: "Our Pioneer Ancestors," is potentially a valuable contribution to family history. In 1945 I felt I should make other contributions. I decided to write a biography of Hosea Stout. Hosea's Journal is considered a valuable contribution to Utah and Church History. Portions of the Journal are unuseable as source material. I decided to edit the manuscript to preserve the gems. This decision made, my problem was to find a copy to edit. I asked Lafayette C. Lee to loan his copy. This egotist vehemently refused my appeal. He made it very plain he did not consider me qualified to write such a biography. The reader may appraise his opinion by an examination of the finished product. The book completely repudiates his pretended capacity to judge my work. Since this exhibition of avariciousness I have held the man in repulsive contempt. The rebuff did not stifle me. I later discovered a copy in the Genealogical Library—put there, it seems to me, by providence. During the next 24 months I spent all my spare time reading and taking notes on the copy. My High School Certificate expired in 1945, so it became necessary to renew it. The School Board indicated they could use my services another year if certified. This necessitated taking seven and one-half hours of extension work, which I did, completing same by December 31.

Since my salary payments did not continue during the summer months, I was of necessity, obliged to find employment. I was employed by the Western Dental Supply as shipping clerk, $30.00 per week. I served until August 31.

Monterey joined the Naval Reserve, July 22. He was sent to the San Diego for training. November 11, while riding the bus in Los Angeles, he was severely cut by glass when the bus suddenly stopped. Fifteen months later he was paid $6,666.00 as damages by the company. The money was placed in a bank until he became 21. Owen continued in the Merchant Marine all during the year.

The year was made very unhappy by the daily nagging and filthy insinuations by the female devil. She viciously charged that all her physical ailments were caused by her association with me! She was supported by her doctors who advised divorce. This tickled her vanity and magnified her arrogance. Life in her presence was intolerable. Her self-exaltation fell like a house of cards when she was given an X-Ray test. The examination showed her ailments were due to ulcers. I was once more vindicated.

January 6 I was ordained a High Priest by Jacob Mauss, President of the Stake High Priest's Quorum. I had been a Seventy 77 months. I was released as class teacher, a position I had held since June, 1943.

April 10, I was awarded an Administrative Certificate by the Utah State Board of Education. Since the Salt Lake City Board of Education do not issue regular contracts to supplementary teachers, my status remained as before. I made several attempts to find a permanent position but without success. The Board made it known that they might use me again if younger teachers were unavailable. The uncertainty was distasteful so I let it be known I would not be available.

Summer employment was the usual problem. I worked short periods for four different firms before landing a job with the Country Club (July 25). My work was to drive a Station Wagon up the hill. This helped the golf players to reach the top more easily and more quickly. My tenure ended September 2.

September 3, I began teaching in the Park City High School. I taught two classes in Civics, two in World History, and one in biology. Student morale was very low in that institution. For many years the teachers had over-graded the pupils. Result, students expected good grades for inferior work. One or more teachers were unable to correct the situation since the Principal morally supported the pupils in their resistance.

Owen was finally discharged from the Merchant Marine August 15. He had saved up a lot of money but had no ambition to improve himself. I went to the Bishop to enlighten him of the situation — recommending that he be sent on a mission. The Bishop did just that. Owen left October 30 for the Southern States Mission.

Monterey was given a medical discharge from the Naval Reserve, November 5. He was granted a $125.00 monthly disability pension to continue four years. He returned to Salt Lake City to attend the University of Utah.

In January conditions at the Park City High School had become intolerable. I resigned January 16 and returned to Salt Lake to seek new employment. January 27 I began working for the Utah State Road Commission. I continued with them until the end of March.

Meanwhile, I accompanied Monterey to Los Angeles, where on February 22, we appeared personally in Court. As noted above, it was then that he was awarded the damages. Returning to Salt Lake City, Monterey continued his school work which was poor in quality. For this reason, I interviewed the Bishop and recommended that he be sent on a mission to avoid entanglements. His $125.00 monthly disability check was sufficient to finance the mission. In due time he left (May 14) for the North Central States Mission.

In April I purchased a dump truck and began hauling junk, soil, and fertilizers — made fair profits. May 9 I sold the truck and purchased a sedan and began selling oranges. Continued in that business until October 13. My net profits were $1400.00.

It was in April that I completed taking notes on the Journal of Hosea Stout. I spent the next 18 months writing and rewriting the biography.

Wendell Snow Stout, died May 18, 1947, at Phoenix, Arizona. He had gone there in November, 1943, for his health. His death came many years after he lost his testimony of the gospel. His entrance into the Spirit World should have given him many surprises. Most important could be his discovery that Joseph Smith was indeed a true Prophet. Digesting that truth must have been a bitter pill to swallow. No doubt he had forgotten his conversation with me in 1942. At that time he had ridiculed me for believing the "fairy tale." Wendell's second surprise could be the discovery that Temple Ordinances are truly sacred and God-inspired—not the illusions of man.

For many years I had dreamed of making a trip east to do genealogical research. The opportunity came in October. David A. Richardson offered to contribute $100.00, Juanita gave $45.00. I sold my two cars for $600.00, made two monthly payments on the home, and left all the money needed to keep the family sustained in my absence (Later the agitator charged in open court that I had willfully and deliberately neglected my family to pursue "evil designs").

I left by bus (October 17), passed through Denver, Kansas City, St. Louis, Louisville, Frankfort, Charlestown, and arrived in Washington, October 23. I plunged into research with both hands and both feet. I spent a week in the capital then went to Raleigh, N. C. Returned via Cane Creek, the old Quaker center (1753), saw the grave of Peter and Margaret Stout, then at Guilford College I examined the original Quaker records. Back in Washington, I interviewed William Wade Hinshaw, the famous Quaker genealogist. "Genealogy" said he, "is just a hobby." I spent one day each at Maryland State Historical Library, and Wilmington State Library. Arrived in Philadelphia in a snow storm. Spent four days studying Quaker records. At Hopewell (November 14) I examined Dr. Mitchell's manuscript of the Stout family. He, too, believes that Samuel was the son of John Stout. Documents at Trenton proved he was wrong. I spent two weeks in New York City with some success. December 1, I was back in Washington for another week of search. Moving north, I made progress at the Pennsylvania State Library at Harrisburg. I visited the Garretson family library at Lima, Ohio. Arriving in Chicago, December 10, I spent four days in the two libraries. Left for home, December 13, arriving 43 hours later. I spent the rest of the year digesting my findings and properly recording the 59 family group sheets. I consider the trip a great success.

The year was a tough one. I spent a busy two weeks seeking employment without success. In despair, I went to Mesa, Arizona, to find work. Visited Juanita, gave her a briefing on eastern trip, then left for Los Angeles. Spent six days looking for work—no success. Returned home (January 27), to find the demon in an ugly mood. She had hoped I would never return.

My first two weeks was filled with disappointments and frustrations. I worked for short periods on three jobs. March 8 I became a Real Estate salesman for Glenn's Realty. During my tenure I sold three homes.

April 9, I announced my candidacy for State Representative from the Tenth Legislative District. In the Democratic Primary I lost by 690 to 498.

Vaughan had completely failed in his studies at the South High School. His only escape was to join the Army Air Corps (February 6). He was sent to Lockland Air Base, San Antonio, Texas, for a 90-day training course. Training completed, he came through Salt Lake, attended Maxine's wedding, continued on to Hamilton Field, California. In June, he was sent to Japan where he remained about 18 months.

In May my income from the sale of houses nearly ceased. I found it necessary to supplement this "income" by other employment. I was given part time work by the Hotel Utah. I served as relief man—three days a week. The other three—I continued with the Realty Company.

My physical condition deteriorated rapidly. I became so weak I could not do my work. I decided to let the Veterans Hospital examine me. They informed me my blood pressure was only half what it should be. They found I had intestinal ulcers. I was given several blood transfusions. After 11 days of treatment I was sent home. My daughter Maxine had been married the day before I came home. I arrived in time for the reception, however. My home coming was treated with insults and insolence. I had spoiled their wedding party. My presence was even embarrassing to the bride and with utter contempt by the mad woman.

After my recovery (May 31) I resumed work at the hotel. I continued on the three-day schedule until July 10, then given 6 days a week. November 1, returned to the three-day schedule. Try as I did, I could not find supplementary work until May of 1949. I wish to emphasize this fact now since later I was charged in court with deliberately faking. These malicious lies were broadcast to church officials and relatives to ruin my reputation and assassinate my character.

The national election of 1948 was a struggle between the ins and outs. Dewey could not face up to the real issues: labor, taxes, and relief so he went down to defeat. In Utah, J. Bracken Lee gave Governor Maw a well deserved licking.

Owen arrived home from his mission November 13. Colleen Engh, a B.Y.U. student, accompanied him from Provo. Three days later, she was wearing an engagement ring. Owen's mission had been very successful. He had paid all his own expenses which is better than I could say. In the mission field he had enjoyed a spirit of unity and brotherly love. Arriving home he found just the opposite. Disintegration, hate and conflict contaminated the air to plague his home coming. It required several weeks to diagnose the cause. A strange behavioristic complex had taken full possession. In despair, he wrote a letter to Monterey — with his interpretation of the brawl. Before the letter could be mailed, the thief read it, then exploded. She succumbed to violent convulsions of anger. She tore into Owen with language so vile — he was sickened by the filth. She was determined that Monterey did not hear the truth. This incident convinced Owen that his mother was suffering from a bad case of psychosis. Thus, relations between the two became strained. He confided in me that the difficulties were all her making. Life for Owen, had, within two months, become intolerable. He was able to escape, but I had to continue in hell and like it! I prayed to my Heavenly Father for deliverance. I had faith that a divinity could save me. I felt the Lord would condemn me if I took the initiative to end the hell. I was inspired to exercise great forbearance and patience. This policy eventually paid off. I knew she was capable of committing the unpardonable sin. My prophecy came true. My emancipation was only seven months away.

The year for my emancipation. The presence of Owen in January served to temper self-control and moderation. After his marriage (February 2) and exit to California, conditions in the home become intolerable. Self-control became a farce. Spasms of anger were ignited by the smallest trivialities. Reason and sanity were replaced by hellish screaming and name calling. The stream of profanity corrupted the air by its vile insinuations of vulgarism. In comparison, hell was a place of contentment, peace, and brotherly love.

The Devil knows he is right and can justify all his acts. The traitor sought justification for her wicked acts, too. She exposed her character by going to the Bishop and filling his mind with a mountain of falsehoods. This weakling drank in her story like a sponge sucks in water. No woman could be in the wrong according to his thinking. Her act was a violation of the marriage vows. She had made the fatal deviation to expose the most confidential of all relations between man and wife. The sacred promises made at the altar were now broken. There is no crime against marriage greater than the stab in the back. It is the highest emblem of unfaithfulness, treachery, deceitfulness in marital relations. The Bishop, not cognizant of marital ethics, could not appraise the gravity of her sin.

When she realized the Bishop could do nothing (his strong personal prejudices disqualified him for that role), she took bolder steps. She went direct to one of the general authorities. There she gave him the same tall story. By this act, she had again violated her marital vows by assassinating my character when my back was turned. By this treacherous act, the issue was no longer my innocence or guilt, but a plain case of malicious destruction of marriage covenants.

When the carnivorous vulture discovered her tactics had failed again she took the last step. She consulted a lawyer. The attorney asked what grounds she sought action. "Her grounds" proved to be a masterpiece in fiction. She was politely informed she had no valid grounds for divorce. The attorney asked for permission to write the complaint himself. This done, she read it.

"I cannot sign that, it's not true." The lawyer saw his fee disappear.

"If you want a divorce, you will have to sign," he warned.

She signed it!

This act was the greatest sin of all. She now was a notorious perjurer. In Utah, perjury is a felony. Once a felon, always a felon. To perjure once, the perjurer must continue, else become entangled in the law. Henceforth she had to lie to cover up the first lie. After the first offense, perjury became her habit. She repeated the crime many times during the trial to avoid entanglements.

I was not opposed to a separation. What I wanted was a fair and equal division of our property. Any settlement based on perjured testimony was unacceptable. The court accepted her perjured testimony, so I refused to accept the court's decision.

The woman was a clever deceiver. Her poisonous tongue had completely brain-washed my sisters Eunice and Genevieve. Result—they became very hostile. Since they approved the perjurer's conduct, our relations were completely ruptured. Abraham was less affected by the deceiver. Still his vacillation marked him as an active sympathizer. In later years Abraham denied his sinister relations with the neurotic. Her boasting of his moral support during the court period, made his denials look ridiculous. All who were in sympathy with the vulture won my eternal condemnation.

My work at Hotel Utah ended May 2. I had been offered full time employment by the Polk Publishing Company. My duties there: listing names and addresses for the City Directory. I continued with them until the Directory was completed (August 10), the day I was illegally evicted from my home. David A. Richardson permitted me to live in one of his vacant houses on 5th East. I remained there until October 15 when I rented a room at 512 East 2nd South. A few days earlier I had been granted $25.00 weekly unemployment Compensation by the State. These payments continued for sixteen weeks.

Monterey had returned from his mission in May. His personality had changed. He was no longer the son I had loved and worshipped. His attitude toward me had soured. I attributed the changed feelings to the brain-washing he had been subjected to. With the passing of time he became more embittered. From his behavior I rightly concluded he fully approved his mother's immorality. In the light of the perjurer's record, his approval placed him in an uncompromising dilemma.

During the year I had rewritten the biography of Hosea Stout. The chapter numerating his descendants was never completed. Being a restless man, I was not satisfied with two books published, I began compiling material for another book; "Ancestors and Descendants of Jehu Cox." I had assembled a lot of data before the year ended.

As noted above, I had refused to accept the Court's decision, so in September the case came up for re-hearing. At that session I had her decision thrown out of court and made counter charges. This left the case exactly where it was at the beginning.

January 18 the trial was held for the third time. This time David A. Richardson was present to testify in my behalf. My lawyer, Lawrence Barclay, had attempted to induce her lawyers to consent to a fair and just settlement of our properties. The neurotic refused all offers of a just peace. Justice and fair play was not a part of her morality. To expect honor and fairness from such a character was to expect swine to appreciate the value of pearls. During the hearing, David and I, completely refuted her false charges. Our counter refutations forced her to make additional charges. Under oath, she accused me of spanking my children too hard. (I am guilty of that crime, but she failed to report that, instead of spanking, she used sharp instruments to inflict bodily harm upon the children. In one case she used a screwdriver on son David, inflicting flesh wounds, making it necessary to take him to the hospital for treatments.) For some reason she failed to remember her acts of cruelty! In spite of the evidence we produced in court, the Judge, a prejudiced rascal, ruled that I pay $1.00 a year alimony, $50.00 a month to the children, and $150.00 attorney fee to the perjurer. It should be emphasized here and now — I did not object to supporting my children. I had always supported them, and I hoped I could continue to support them. What I vigorously objected to was the spirit in which this ransom was to be forced. Now I must support my children under duress, a court order sentenced me to do my moral duty. For twenty-four years I had supported my children because I loved them. Now I must support them under duress! If the court could have been human, which it could not be, I would have been awarded the custody of the two boys. Then I could have continued to do my duty. The Judge was morally incapable of making a just decision. For this reason I filed a petition for a rehearing. This action annulled the decision of January 18. The final hearing came May 29 while I was traveling in the East. My lawyer permitted the case to pass on condition the enforcing provisions were not executed. November 29 the divorce became final.

Soon after the January hearing I learned that Vaughn had offered to come into court and testify against me under oath. His willingness to stab me in the back was shocking indeed. It shows how effective her poisonous tongue had been. My only recourse was to disown the traitor.

Meanwhile, at my lodgings, 512 East, 2nd South, I was active in intellectual pursuits. March 7, I went to the Veterans Hospital for treatments. I was afflicted by hemorrhoids (piles). I was operated on March 15 and discharged ten days later. The operation was a success. Recovering my strength, I continued my genealogical research till late in April. Since I was too weak for hard work, David A. Richardson offered to finance another Eastern trip. He paid for the round ticket, advanced $200.00 and agreed to mail more as needed. I cached my personal property at the homes of Dewey and Lyman and left by bus, April 30.

My route took me through Denver to Nashville where I checked state archives. I did the same in Louisville, Charlestown and Raleigh. I arrived in Washington, May 11, and spent two weeks in libraries and archives. Spent time in Annapolis, Baltimore, York, Lancaster, West Chester, Wilmington, Dover and finally Philadelphia. In the Friendly city I spent a week examining Quaker records. In Trenton I made progress on the Van Quellen clan. I tried to find the will of James Bullen in Middlesex, New Brunswick, Pert Amboy and Newark, but failed. I spent 8 days in New York where I had better success. I did research in New Haven, Hartford, and Boston. The New England Library closed July 1 for vacation so I was forced on to Providence. I made excellent progress there on the Fisk line. July 8 I returned to Washington for another two weeks of work. I made several trips into the country side looking for Pyle records in old churches. July 23 I went to Staunton, Virginia, the original home of the McMahon family. I did more work at Frankfort and Louisville. Failed to solve the Gantt problem so took bus for home. Arriving home (July 30) I spent a week digesting and classifying the data I had collected, recorded these facts in family group sheets.

August 13 I went to Phoenix, Arizona to gather data on the descendants of Hosea Stout, Jr. I was successful so returned to Salt Lake 12 days later. I was advised of a vacancy at Myton, Utah which I proceeded to secure. I reported for duty on Labor Day and was assigned the Fifth Grade, salary $2900.00 per year. Till December 15, I paid $50.00 for board and room at the Robinson home. Adjusting myself to teaching after four years was not easy. It became necessary to renew my teacher's certificate so I signed up for several courses by correspondence. The Myton Bishop appointed me Secretary in Mutual, Director of Teacher Training, and teacher of the Gospel Doctrine class in Sunday school. I went to Salt Lake for the Christmas holidays where a dentist relieved me of $141.00.

The first five months were uneventful. School schedules soon became monotonous. January 3 I received a letter from President George Albert Smith requesting information relative to my marital affairs. It seems the neurotic had, on the recommendation of her Bishop, applied for a temple divorce. The President wanted my reaction before taking action. I wrote him a long letter giving him a true history of the case. Since the contents of that letter is printed herein, duplication is not necessary. The letter is copied in full in my Journal, Vol. II, pp. 55-65. The President's final decision had an interesting aftermath. She was denied a temple marriage cancellation. She had also applied for a cancellation of the sealing between myself and children. For this blunder, she was sternly rebuked.

During the winter I had carried on a lively correspondence with descendants of Jehu Cox. Visited Vernal and Bridgeland where relatives lived. I hired a firm to type the Hosea Stout manuscript, cost $40.00. Vaughn was married March 23 to Mary Louisa Poppleton. He left April 20 for the Australia Mission. School closed May 18. I was offered teaching positions in two different rural towns — both were unsatisfactory. I moved to Provo June 2 and found lodging at 387 North—3rd East —my home for the next 15 months.

I attended both Summer School sessions. During the interval in September, I made several trips for Cox data. One trip to Huntington, another to Glendale, and a third to Ogden. Each was productive of results. From Provo I made several short trips to Lehi and Payson. When school began, October 3, I had made great progress.

I registered for the Autumn Quarter, choosing religious subjects—all were passed with good grades. This was the best school year I ever experienced. I was free from financial worries, thanks to a sizeable bank role. I lived in a well furnished apartment with all the conveniences one could need. Most important of all, I was rid of the woman, who for 24 years, had been the cause of all my unhappiness. It was November 14 that I received a letter from her. In that letter she made a full confession. All the charges made in court, she admitted, were false. This letter completely exonerated me. No longer was I guilty of willfully neglecting my family or treating her in a cruel and inhuman manner. No longer could it be said I failed to pay her doctor bills or support the children. Those who had placed complete confidence in her veracity were now out on a limb. Eunice, Genevieve, and Abraham found themselves hopelessly embarrassed. They had openly given aid and comfort to a notorious liar. Now they were forced to eat crow. For me, it was vindication supreme.

The divorce system in Utah is a disgrace to the judiciary. Any moral reprobate can come into court, swear out charges against any one, the court will accept same, no questions asked. Be these charges ever so vile and unreasonable, the court swallows them in one tasty gulp. The more vile and evil they are, the greater the relish. This is specially true if the plaintiff is a female. A female can make any charge and the judges will bow in humble submission. The courts in Utah are the slaves of the fair sex. My ordeal is a complete confirmation of this truth.

January 2 I registered for the Winter Quarter. The subjects chosen were: Old Testament Prophets, Doctrines of the Church, Philosophy of Mormonism, History of Philosophy, and History of the United States (1877-1919). During the Spring Quarter I selected: Philosophy of Religion, Astronomy, History of Christian Thought, and a listening course in Christian Church History. I was well satisfied with the work accomplished. I did not register for the Summer sessions but did attend several classes as a listener. During the year I had completed 43 hours, mostly graduate. It was in May that I began collecting material for a "Bibliography on Mormonism". At the end of the year the work was nearly completed.

The manuscript: biography of Hosea Stout, had been completed in June, 1951. I spent a full year after that trying to find a printer. None would take the job unless I advanced the entire cost of publication at the beginning. No one would loan me the money to start the process. Not till October, 1952, did I have $227.00 for a first payment. The Art City Printing Company of Springville agreed to take the job—payments to be made on the installment plan.

In September my bank roll had evaporated so I moved (September 10) to Salt Lake to seek employment. I found part time employment at Hotel Wilson. I landed another part time position with the Salt Lake City Board of Education—teaching English to the foreign born. I met these students twice a week at the Lafayette school. These two jobs kept me out of the poor house.

During the year I had been informed by David A. Richardson that Lafayette C. Lee was planning to sue me in the courts if I quoted one sentence from the Journal of Hosea Stout. I consulted a lawyer who assured me no court action was admissible if quotations are taken from material not copyrighted. Lafayette had originally refused to loan me the copy for processing. Now he was attempting to sabotage my work by threats. His behavior clearly indicated a profound hate mixed with personal jealousy for me and all my work. When the book finally came off the press, he was one of the first to purchase a copy. Strange indeed, he did not sue me!

Vaughn remained in Australia on his mission. After his mother's confession, I wrote him a letter to ask what his reaction was, now that the confession had changed the situation. I put our future relations squarely up to him. I wanted to know who he really believed was in the right—his mother or me? I wanted to know if he still believed his mother was in the right. If she were, I insisted, then cordial relations between us were ended. If he believed I was in the right, then I expected him to act accordingly. I insisted, no neutrality would be tolerated. He evaded the issue by completely ignoring my letter! Monterey remained vehemently adamant. His mother's admission had no effect on his attitude. He treated the "alleged" admissions as a monstrous fabrication. In consequence, friendly relations between us were completely ruptured.

In the Presidential Election of 1952 I voted a straight Republican ticket—except for one candidate—

Adiel F. Stewart. This egoist, as President of a Stake in 1949, had morally and spiritually supported the perjurer.

In the South Thirteenth Ward, where I had been a member since September, 1952, I was very active. I was assigned to teach the Genealogical class in Sunday School. Later, appointed Chairman, Ward Genealogical Committee. I held these positions till December 31, 1954, when I left the Ward. I lived at the Hotel Wilson till March 4 when I obtained a better part time job at 1107 East—South Temple St. I remained at that apartment till December 18, 1954. My contract with the School Board ended May 28. This did not end my teaching, however. I rented a room from the L. D. S. Business College and continued teaching till December 11. These classes were supported by private tuition.

My class in English for the foreign born, which began in March, had one student which changed my life. Her name, Elfriede Rosa Neiss Radtke. We were married May 27 in the Salt Lake Temple. She had an interesting life so I wrote her biography which can be found in my Journal, Vol. II, pp. 117-124.

In July Vaughn returned from his mission. Monterey was married August 21 to Lois Mae Johnson and Owen moved from San Pedro, California to Orem, Utah. My sister, Daisie, died October 25. My wife and I attended her funeral in Logan.

"Hosea Stout, Utah's Pioneer Statesman" came from the presses November 5. I was well pleased with the product. I purchased 1000 copies—in installments. By the end of the year I had paid for 300 copies. My total income: $1,738.00.

Having purchased a typewriter, I spent the first two months typing: "A Bibliography on Mormonism". This copy had about 1200 pages. I spent the next two years trying to persuade the church to print it—but failed.

My sister, Juanita, died January 28. I went by bus to Moab then rode with Emerald to Mesa. The funeral was held January 30. I returned to Salt Lake February 1 by the same route.

The year was productive in the compilation of the "Jehu Cox" book. I made two long trips for data, one to Seattle, and one to Los Angeles. I was successful. At the end of the year, I was 90% complete. I purchased two hundred more copies of the "Hosea Stout" book.

July 23, I filed as a candidate for the State Senate on the Republican ticket. At the County Convention, August 14, I was badly defeated. My platform can be found in my Journal, Vol. II, p. 136.

I needed a car so I purchased a worthless one for one dollar. With this car as a down payment, I was allowed $100.00 toward a 1948 Studebaker Coupe. I used this Studebaker as a $475.00 down payment on a new 1954 Nash Rambler (September 13). By the end of the year the balance due on the Nash was $1,084.00. My salary at the apartment was insufficient to meet these payments so I landed a night janitor job at the University of Utah. After 80 days, I found it difficult to keep up on both jobs. I kept the best job and moved (December 18) to 325 Quince St. My total income for the year was $2111.00.

My janitor job at the University continued till February 28. I was thoroughly fed up with grave yard work. So I returned to my orange business for a seven month period. I was very successful in that work. By June I had paid off the thousand dollars balance due on the Nash car.

My sister, Artie, died February 23 in El Paso, Texas. She was buried in Mesa. I was unable to attend the funeral.

By the end of September oranges could not compete with local fruit so my profits fell to zero. October 10 I began as a solicitor for the Disabled Veterans Foundation. My pay averaged about $7.00 per day. I continued with them for twenty-three months.

I made great progress toward the completion of the "Cox" genealogy. I wrote several biographies, which included the principal characters in the volume.

July 24, I was assigned to teach the Gospel Doctrine class, North 17th Ward Sunday School. At the present time (December 1959) that assignment has not ended. My total income amounted to $2,459.00.

The manuscript: Ancestors and Descendants of Jehu Cox, was completed and typed by May 1. I submitted the copy to the Utah Printing Company who agreed to print 400 copies for $2600.00. I paid $800.00—a down payment. Four months later, I paid an equal sum. The book was nearly ready to come off the press as the year ended.

Pressure from the Art City Publishing Company of Springville for the balance due on the 500 copies of the Hosea Stout book became urgent. When no other means of meeting the obligation was apparent I went to the Continental Bank, used my Nash car as security, and borrowed $899.00. I paid that loan off by June 13, 1957.

During the year we did some traveling. In April we went to Wayne Wonderland, Bryce Canyon, Zions, St. George, Enterprise, and Hinckley—a distance of 794 miles. In June we went to Vernal, Manila, Jim Bridger's Roost, Evanston, up Bear River till roads were impassable, turned back to Coalsville and home—a distance of 531 miles. Our third trip in October was to Mirror Lake—high in the Uintah Mountains. We back tracked to Kamas, over the mountain to Duchesne River, down that stream to Duchesne, and took short cut to Price. From Price we went south through Emery County to top of Salina Canyon, the "scenery" proved a disappointment, turned north at Salina to Provo Canyon, over the divide into American Fork Canyon—that canyon is the most beautiful in Utah—and home—a distance of 570 miles.

My wife became an American Citizen, August 16 in ceremonies held at the Court House.

In June I decided to run for the State Legislature—my fourth attempt. I filed on the Democratic ticket, 12th Legislative District, House of Representatives. My platform may be found in my Journal, Vol. 11, p. 156. In the September 11 Primary I was defeated 724 to 536. The man who defeated me lost in the General Election. In that election I voted for Ike, Bennett and Dawson. On the state and county level I voted straight Democratic.

The Bibliography on Mormonism which I began in 1952 was finally returned to me REJECTED (December 13). I had submitted the manuscript to the B. Y. U. in 1953 for publication. No one in that institution had the authority to determine its suitability for publication. It finally reached the desk of Joseph Fielding Smith who danced with the problem for 18 months before he could decide its fitness for publication. In 1957 I had the copy bound then sold it to the B. Y. U. Library for ten dollars. I had spent over $400.00 in labor to produce the work!

My first official act was to pay the third $800.00 installment to the printer. That left a balance of $208.00 which I liquidated May 20. The book came from the press February 8. I had ordered 400 copies. The subscribers received their copy for less than cost. Later, non-subscribers were able to purchase a copy for $10.00. There were twenty-one persons who had paid the two dollar deposit, but when the book was ready, refused to pay the balance. A few who are on this black list are: Bishop Robert Cox of St. George; a son and a grandson of Annie Cox Worthen; Uncle Jedediah Cox had a daughter and her children—who spitefully reneged. These dishonest souls, with a persecution complex, mourned the loss of their two dollar deposits, but had no feelings for the five dollars I lost on each default! The other 15 defaulters were third and fourth cousins. If the reader wants to know who these devils are, see my Journal, Vol. 11, p. 165.

Early in the year I had decided to write another family genealogy. The title of that work: "Genealogy of the Sagers, Fisk, and Stout Families". This book to be modeled after the Cox book. This new work aimed to identify all ancestors and descendants of John and Amy Sweet Sagers, Hezekiah and Rhodah Walker Fisk, and Allen Joseph Stout. Henceforth, I spent all my spare time on that project.

In late August we decided to take a vacation. We went north through Malad and St. Anthony where an offensive tooth had to be pulled. In Yellowstone, we made the circle—enjoying the wonderful scenery. Left by the South Gate, passed through the Jackson Hole country and east to Big Pinny area. From Evanston we went up the Bear River again, this time we went over the top to Mirror Lake. Our achievement gave us a sense of satisfaction. Arrived home, August 30, after a 1123 mile journey.

Returning to my soliciting work with the Veterans Foundation, I was informed part of my territory had been given to another man. This was a violation of the original contract so I quit in disgust (September 5). I immediately obtained another soliciting job with the Newspaper Agency Corporation. My work was to solicit new subscriptions to the Deseret News and Tribune. The first subscription taken each day paid $5.00. Additional subscriptions taken that same day paid one dollar each. I continued in this work till the end of the year. During that period I took 155 orders.

During the year I made two long trips gathering family history. In July I went to Twin Falls and Blackfoot. In October I went to Springdale and St. George. Returning I came through Circleville to find the Dobson family. I was successful in that mission. The distance traveled was 790 miles.

My yearly income was $2,027.00. I gave the church $195.00. I paid over $100.00 in Federal and State taxes. The great surprise of the year was the marriage of Joyce Richardson to John Earl Heder, August 22.

My work with the Newspaper Agency ended January 7. On that day I learned the Company had withdrawn its $5.00 bonus for the first subscription. That took all the wind out of the work so I quit. I was unemployed till April 4 when I began drawing unemployment compensation from the State. I was given $24.00 a week for 24 weeks. During that period I gave full time to genealogy. I made several trips to Ogden, Provo, Fillmore and Delta. Another trip to Twin Falls and Shelley. These expeditions were very successful.

Walter H. Stout was very cooperative till he discovered I knew his son was a bigamist—then he blew up. Henceforth, he did every thing possible to sabotage my work. He exercised all the influence and persuasion possible to poison the minds of his own family against my mission. His rebuff came too late, however, for I had previously completed his family record.

My son, David Frederick, returned from the Northern States Mission June 15 and was married September 11 to Mildred Barth.

My unemployment checks ended September 12 so I joined the army of unemployed. September 18 I started as a salesman for the New Method Cleaners. I remained with them till November 22. On that day they offered me a less satisfactory job so I left them. I immediately applied to the Veterans Administration for disability benefits. I was given a physical examination at the Fort Douglas Hospital, December 30.

At the end of the year I had 15 grandchildren. Richard Layne graduated from the South High School in June.

My yearly income was $1028.00. My taxable income was $358.00. I gave the church $59.00.

February 5, I was informed by the Veterans Administration that, as a result of the examination, I was considered more than 50% disabled. I received my first pension check a week later. April 13 I received my first Social Security check which will continue indefinitely. Between these two monthly checks I should feel secure the rest of my natural life. I can truly say, "life begins at 65."

During February I wrote and rewrote the biography of grandfather, Allen Joseph Stout, later it was typed. In March and April I wrote my Memoirs. After several revisions, it was typed. This task completed, I wrote the biographies of Hezekiah Fisk, his two sons, Ira and Alfred; John, Minerva, Mariah, Harrison, and Amanda Sagers, finally the life of Amy Sweet.

May 6, my wife and I left for a pleasure trip to California. In Belmont, I left my wife with her son while I spent my time interviewing relatives to obtain data for the book I am publishing. We spent Sunday, May 10, sight-seeing in San Francisco. May 11—I left Rosa in Belmont and left for Oregon. In Portland and Vancouver I made progress gathering facts about the descendants of Allen Joseph Stout, Jr. Traveling east on the north side of the Columbia River, I contacted relatives in Passco, Clarkson, south to Weiser, Boise, Jerome, and Buhl. I arrived in Salt Lake City, May 18, having traveled 3,403 miles.

During the Summer months, I typed all the family groups except the Allen Jr. and the John Sagers Eaton families. The latter group had refused to cooperate, so, on October 11, I left Salt Lake for Durango, Colorado and Farmington, New Mexico, where I was successful in my mission. Enroute home, I spent one day in Moab where Emerald took me for a sightseeing tour of the scenic wonders. After a 1003 mile trip, I returned to Salt Lake, October 17.

I spent the last 75 days in 1959 completing the script for this book. The job has cost me three full years of work. I hope the book will give future generations as much satisfaction as it has cost me in time, money and mental anguish. I have invested over $400.00 of my own money, traveled over 15,000 miles, and worked more than 9,000 hours to make this book possible. Still I have many cousins who refuse to financially support me—charging the project to be a racket wherein I am receiving exorbitant profits.

April 13, my Aunt Sarah L. Cox Stout, father's surviving wife fell, causing complications which nearly proved fatal. She was rushed from St. George to a hospital here in Salt Lake where crucial surgery was necessary to save her life. After the operation she remained in a critical condition for many weeks. No one expected her to survive the shock, but she did. Before the year ended she successfully passed her ninety-third anniversary, and now, December 31, looks her old self again.

As the old year (1959) ends, I was startled to learn I had 17 grandchildren, none of whom even know me. Owen lives in Orem, Utah and is employed by the Geneva Steel Mill. Monterey is in Winnipeg, Canada. Vauhgn lives here in the city and works in Bingham Canyon. Maxine lives in Granger, Utah. David is a student at the University of Utah. Richard is serving in the Northern States Mission.

Since life begins at 65, I am now facing a new world. I feel that divinity is shaping my destiny. I fully believe my greatest missions lie in the future. I will deserve the fate that awaits me.
